

Lloyd Man Killed in Orange; 17 Injured in Area Crashes

A 27-year-old Town of Lloyd man was included among 19 persons who lost their lives in New York State as the result of weekend traffic accidents. He was Garrett Hart of 44 Maple Avenue, Highland, who was killed this morning in a truck-trailer mishap in Orange County.

His death increased the highway death toll in that county to 63 for 1965.

County Toll Now 53

Meanwhile, not previously reported was the death of Carmine LaColla, 61, of 2970 Randall Avenue, New York City, who was injured Monday, Dec. 13 in a one-car accident on Route 28 near the Hill Top House, Phoenix, which also claimed the life of Edward Corsi, 69, of 60 East 96th Street, New York City, chief member of the Unemployment Appeals Board, State Labor Department.

Coroner William S. Keyser said today that LaColla died Wednesday in Kingston Hospital of lung injuries resulting from multiple fractures. LaColla's death was included in the Ulster County traffic death toll for 1965, which is now 53.

Seventeen persons were injured in highway mishaps investigated during the weekend by area authorities.

Hart was riding in a tractor-trailer operated by his brother-in-law Frank Storms, 33, of Orchard Street, Marlboro at 2:15 a. m. today and traveling north on Route 9W about 750 feet north of Marlboro Turnpike, Town of Newburgh, when the vehicle went out of control on a curve and veered off the right shoulder of the highway.

Uproots Three Trees

Newburgh State Police reported the truck uprooted three maple trees before coming to a stop. A report of Troopers Frank Hartung and Henry Malle noted the cab of the tractor was completely demolished.

Orange County Coroner Harvey L. Agnew investigated with state troopers and withheld a verdict pending a further investigation of the fatality.

Storms was listed in critical condition at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

In the Dec. 13 fatal accident, which resulted in the deaths of Corsi and LaColla, Antonio Crassia, 60, of 170th Street, New York City, escaped injury. LaColla's co-driver said, was the operator of the vehicle.

The three New York City men were enroute to New York City from Roxbury, where Corsi maintained a summer home, which he had just closed, when the accident occurred. Troopers said that LaColla came up behind a car in a speed zone and when he applied the brakes the car veered off the highway and overturned in a culvert. Corsi was ejected from the vehicle.

Six Hurt on Rt. 209

Six persons were injured and five of them hospitalized early Sunday as the result of a four-car collision which occurred on Route 209 about nine-tenths of a mile north of Ellenville, according to State Police Sergeant Donald Paulson of that community.

Cars involved in the collision were operated by Peter Weeks, 18, Napanoch, who suffered multiple lacerations of the face which required about 36 sutures; Allen Loucks, 19, Maple Court, Ellenville, who sustained a fracture and lacerations of the nose; Jean Edelman, 33, of Wawarsing,

Near Zero Here After Springlike Unseasonal Week

The City of Kingston and Ulster County got a taste of cold winter weather Sunday night and early today as temperatures dropped close to zero following a weekend that was sunny, bright and reminiscent of early spring. Christmas shoppers on Saturday and churchgoers on Sunday found local weather unseasonal and most residents were already predicting that there would be no white Christmas this year.

Last night, with winter officially still one day off on the calendar, it began to look more like winter. The Kingston City Engineers office recorded an 11 degrees above zero reading as the official low temperature at 8 a. m. this morning. Official, also, was the 10 degrees above zero reported at the Ashokan Reservoir gatehouse. Unofficial temperatures around the county included nine degrees above zero at Blue Mountain Reservoir, 12 degrees above at Zena, 10 above in Woodstock, and another 12 above in Chichester.

Winter officially begins Tuesday, but local residents felt the first chill winds today as iced windshields greeted work-bound drivers. Elsewhere in the state, the weather ignored the calendar and winter's official opening by even bigger margins. Overnight lows tumbled to 16 degrees below zero in upstate New York and more than 30 inches of snow covered one community there.

The Weather Bureau, according to The Associated Press, described today's early morning (Continued on Page 35, Col. 4) who received lacerations of the upper lip, and Duane G. Quick, 29, of Ellenville, who apparently was not injured.

Others injured in the mishap were, Lee Wright, 16, Napanoch, a passenger in the Weeks car, who suffered a compound fracture and lacerations of the nose; Kathy Trumbull, 18, Napanoch, who received neck and back in-

Astros Start Checkups, Mission Really 'Dream'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr., who sailed far enough during their two weeks in space to make 10 round trips to the moon, begin three days of medical checkups here today to determine what physical rigors space travel has on man.

People who talked with the astronauts said their main complaint of the 14-day flight was the confinement — they couldn't stretch out. They asserted they dreamed a lot during the mission, sources said. And Borman was quoted as saying that Lovell was dreaming "all the time."

Food on board the spacecraft — some of it dehydrated — got tedious and somewhat objectionable toward the end of the flight, the sources noted.

Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell, as well as Gemini 7 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford, praised the Titan 2 booster and Gemini spacecraft.

All four also remarked how easy it was to see through each other's spacecraft windows while they were rendezvousing high above the earth Wednesday.

Schirra was quoted as saying that the Gemini 7 capsule appeared twice as bright as the brightest star, Sirius, when he was approaching it and Schirra and Stafford indicated that rendezvous was easier than they thought.

Stafford and Schirra copiloted two small airplanes on Thursday from the prime recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp, to Bermuda.

On the way, sources said, they tried to fly their two aircraft in formation and noted that it was much easier to pilot two Gemini spacecraft in formation, even

Problems Noted in 22 Post Offices of Area

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's plan to improve postal facilities and delivery service in the 28th Congressional District has moved another step closer to reality.

The Congressman's administrative assistant, Daniel S. Rohrer, met Friday with Joseph Dougherty, executive assistant to the Assistant Postmaster General in charge of Postal Facilities, and presented him with a detailed bill of particulars of unsatisfactory conditions in 22 post offices in Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Schoharie, and Ulster Counties.

Compiled Information

The bill of particulars was compiled from replies to a letter Congressman Resnick sent to mayors and supervisors in all five counties about three months ago. These officials were asked to make personal inspection tours of all post offices in their areas and to talk with the local postmasters. The results of these surveys were then sent to Congressman Resnick who has been promised by the then Postmaster General, John A. Gronowski, that he would personally review this list with the Congressman.

Lawrence O'Brien, the new Postmaster General, has reiterated this pledge to Congressman Resnick, and the two are expected to review the post office situation when the Congressman returns from Viet Nam.

The list of complaints given by Rohrer to Dougherty will be individually investigated by postal inspectors and their reports will be given to Postmaster O'Brien for his meeting with Congressman Resnick in January.

The complaints range in nature from physical shortcomings, such as leaky roofs and inadequate heating, to problems resulting from the growth of the area: Insufficient work space, lack of parking facilities, and the need for more delivery boxes.

Cite Slow Delivery

Complaints concerning slow delivery of first class mail and parcel post will also be investigated.

Post offices brought to the attention of the Post Office Department include:

Columbia County — Hudson, Hillsdale.

Dutchess County — Pleasant Valley, Millbrook, Stanfordville, Pine Plains, Wingdale, Wassaic, Millerton, and Red Hook.

Greene County — Cornwallville, Oak Hill, Durham, Acra, and Purling.

Schoharie County — Schoharie, Ulster County — Walkkill, Plattkill, Modena, Rosendale, Highland, and New Paltz.

In some of these locations,

CHARLES DE GAULLE

De Gaulle Reelected In Run-Off

Polls 55 Per Cent Over Mitterrand

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) — France settled back for more years of Gaullism today following President Charles de Gaulle's re-election to another seven-year term.

Although De Gaulle's failure to win on the first ballot two weeks ago gave clear notice that his popularity had slipped, almost no one expected the autocratic old man to alter his policy goals. He may soften his methods, however.

Almost Complete

In the run-off election Sunday, complete returns from European France and all overseas territories except Guinea and Polynesia gave the 75-year-old president 13,063,134, or 55.18 per cent. Leftist Francois Mitterrand got 10,609,744.

About 84 per cent of the registered voters balloted, a near record turnout.

Mitterrand termed De Gaulle's victory "mediocre" and said he would turn his attention to the National Assembly elections in November 1967. "All my efforts," he said, "will be to make the legislative elections the decisive engagement which will save the republic from the adventure into which a discredited Gaullism is going to plunge it."

Begins Term Jan. 8

De Gaulle, who begins his new term Jan. 8, issued no victory statement from the seclusion of his estate in eastern France. His supporters were overjoyed that he had pulled out a comfortable margin after his humiliating first round setback, in which he won only 43.9 per cent of the vote.

On the international scene, De Gaulle faces two items of unfinished business.

One is the negotiations in the Market, which De Gaulle brought to an abrupt halt last June to block attempts to give the economic community's executive more power.

De Gaulle opposes any move toward supranationality by the Common Market administration. The five other members scheduled a meeting in Brussels today to discuss the impasse. They hoped for some word from De Gaulle that he is ready to talk again.

NATO On Agenda

The second major international item on De Gaulle's agenda is reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. De Gaulle has called for an end to military integration in the 15-nation alliance and has warned that if a basic change is not made, France will bow out by 1969. Concrete proposals by De Gaulle for changes in NATO are expected early in 1966.

Peace Feeler Provokes Stormy Capital Dispute

Approve $829,012 for College Construction; Open Bids Today

The office of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick announced today approval by the Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare, Office of Education, of a construction grant to the Ulster County Community College in the amount of $829,012.

Bid Opening at 2

Meanwhile, bids for the first phase of the college were due to be opened today at 2 p. m. at the offices of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Plans and specifications were prepared by Augustus R. Schrowang and Associates of Kingston, architects engaged by the county to prepare plans.

Site development work has been underway at the college site in Stone Ridge under the supervision of Brinnier and Larios, local engineering firm.

40 Per Cent of Cost

The grant was authorized under the terms of the 1963 Higher Education Assistance Act. The $829,000 Federal grant represents approximately 40 per cent of the cost of construction of the first four buildings at the Stone Ridge site of the college.

Upon being apprised of the grant, the Congressman's office, Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of Ulster County Community College said, "I am pleased and excited at the announcement which has such great importance to the people of our community. The Federal grant will supplement the moneys provided by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, the magnificent cash pledge by Trustee Emeritus Mc Donald DeWitt and the funds from the State of New York."

A spokesman for Congressman Resnick, who is visiting the troops in Viet Nam, said, "We are proud to make this announcement as it is a fine example of cooperative effort on the part of individuals, local, State, and National government to help communities solve their own problems. This shows how constructive Federal policy can use the resources of the entire nation to benefit local areas. This also is an indication of the confidence the Federal government has in the vitality and growth of the Ulster County area."

Dr. Lake also told the Congressman's office that, "Every one connected with the college is excited about this new development and take great satisfaction from the start of construction. The continuing support of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors is indeed appreciated and with their help the Ulster County Community College will continue to thrive and be the kind of Educational Institution the people of Ulster County need, want and deserve."

Kennedy, Resnick Given Zeroes on Voting by ACA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Americans for Constitutional Action says Sen. Robert F. Kennedy D-N.Y., rates a zero on its index of voting during the first session of Congress this year.

At the other end of the scale, ACA gave its highest ratings in New York State—88 per cent—to Reps. Carleton J. King of Saratoga Springs and Robert C. McEwen of Ogdensburg, both Republicans.

ACA describes itself as a national, non-partisan political organization and is regarded as conservatively oriented.

A high score on the organization's index means a lawmaker favored legislation which, ACA says, "would preserve the constitution as originally conceived."

The scores of New York Republicans ranged from 11 to 88 per cent and for Democrats from zero to 32 per cent.

Normally Congressmen who score high on the survey receive high scores on a similar survey issued yearly by the Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal group.

The greatest decline on the group's scale was recorded by Rep. John V. Lindsay, mayor-elect of New York City. He dropped to 7 per cent in the 88th Congress, down from 72 per cent in 1960.

Other New York Democrats listed by ACA at zero included Reps. Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn; Eugene J. Keogh of Brooklyn; Adam Clayton Powell of Manhattan; John G. Dow of Grand View; Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville, and Leo W. O'Brien of Albany.

Democrats listed by ACA at 4 per cent included Reps. Herbert Tenzer of Lawrence; Benjamin S. Rosenthal of Elmhurst; James J. Delaney, of Long Island City; Edna F. Kelly, Abraham J. Multer, and John M. Murphy of Staten Island; Leonard Farberstein and William F. Ryan, both of Manhattan; James J. Scheuer, Jav-

Question If Hanoi Is Source

No Decision On New U. S. Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration found itself caught up today in a stormy dispute over its publication of correspondence reporting and probing a conditional peace offer from Communist North Viet Nam.

The storm overshadowed the central question whether Hanoi had in fact made an authentic approach for a settlement on its own terms and might yet respond to a U.S. request for clarification of conditions in it.

Revealed In Story

President Johnson could try to revive the roundabout peace exchange with President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam by sending some kind of new message in Ho's direction, but administration officials said today that there had been no decision on any new U.S. action. The security covers were torn from the incident last Friday afternoon after the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported that a new peace offer from Hanoi had been rejected by the United States.

Amid denials from Hanoi that any peace feeler had been sent, Dr. Giorgio La Pira, former mayor of Florence and a left-wing Christian Democrat, one of the principal intermediaries in the affair, insisted that the offer had been made.

His traveling colleague, Prof. Mario Primicerio, accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of sabotaging the bid. "Secretary of State Dean Rusk is to be blamed," he said, "because he obviously wanted this mission to fail by disclosing in advance what had been done." Later the 24-year-old linguist denied having said this, but the journalist who interviewed him said the quote was correct.

State Department officials calling the charge outrageous, said the publication was forced by concern for what they considered was a partially erroneous account which had already become public. Rusk was reported angered and upset by the criticism.

Faces Crisis

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and another who played the role of go-between, said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers" the administration would have "preferred to carry on this discussion in privacy" but was faced with a "crisis of confidence" with the public over the credibility of its peace policy. Goldberg argued the administration acted correctly in releasing the correspondence.

Goldberg said he did not think (Continued on Page 35, Col. 1)

Viet Nam Will Head '66 Agenda Of New Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders are in general agreement that the dominant issue in the session convening Jan. 10 will be the Viet Nam war.

Sharing the spotlight in what may be a long and bitter session will be labor legislation, the administration's "Great Society" programs and perhaps taxes.

Many members took advantage of the fall recess to visit Viet Nam. They returned with conflicting opinions on how the war is being conducted and their differing views should touch off sharp debate.

There is little that Congress can do about how the war is being fought, except to appropriate money to foot the bill. But the fact that it is being waged and is costing a lot of money will be reflected in consideration of nonmilitary legislation.

"One of the basic issues," said Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader "will be the need to curtail nondefense programs. We are face to face with the decision between guns and butter. The war is real and we must pay for it."

"But some other programs," Ford added in an interview, "which perhaps worthy do not have the same top priority. We must take a hard look at the 'Great Society' measures jammed through during the recent session. They are expensive." (Continued on Page 35, Col. 1)

Defenders Beat Back Cong Close to Saigon

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Forces guarding Saigon against Communist terrorist attacks on the fifth anniversary of the Viet Cong beat off a company-size enemy band Monday night five miles outside the capital near a vital fuel and ammunition dump.

The city limits heard the rattle of small arms fire and the rumble of artillery.

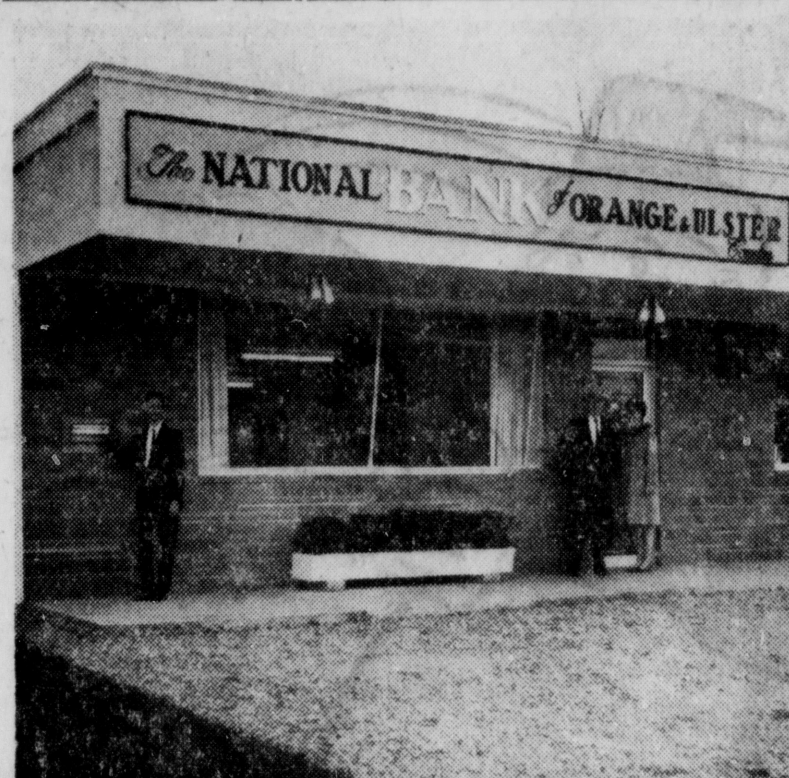

Is Critical of Area

The action was east of Nha Be, site of the biggest supply depot of fuel and ammunition in the country.

An American officer said the Viet Cong probe apparently was not intended to get at the dump but it bumped into alerted forces which at first may have suspected this was the target.

The depot on the Saigon River is a critical area for the South Vietnamese. U.S. advisers say a single tracer round fired into one of the fuel tanks or one mortar round hitting an ammunition ship there could set the entire area ablaze. They add that ignited fuel spilling into the river during an incoming tide could send a wall of fire sweeping into Saigon.

Face Repeaters: Dr. Schwartz

Wasp Outbreak Not Unusual Occurrence

Commenting on the recent outbreak of tuberculosis aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp, prime recovery ship for the Gemini 6 and 7 space vehicles, Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, president of the Ulster County TB Association, noted this is not an unusual occurrence.

Dr. Schwartz pointed out that some conditions of shipboard life make flareups of contagious diseases like tuberculosis a continuing threat. He noted that Edith M. Lincoln, M.D., adjunct professor of the New York University School of Medicine, has observed that the Wasp is a regrettable example of infectious and insidious nature of tuberculosis.

Close Proximity Noted

"These outbreaks of 'collective contamination' or 'epidemics' are not unusual in situations in which a number of people spend much time in close proximity with each other," Dr. Schwartz said. "With her background, Dr. Lincoln is well qualified to evaluate the Wasp tuberculosis outbreak," he added.

"Dr. Lincoln is the author of a recent article on Epidemics of Tuberculosis appearing in the Medical Journal Advancements in Tuberculosis Research, in which she surveyed the circumstances of 109 outbreaks of the disease in schools, small communities and 'closed communities' such as boarding schools and ship," Dr. Schwartz said.

Commenting further on the Wasp outbreak, Dr. Schwartz said, "The experience on this ship, unhappily, may be repeated in similar situations despite careful preventive measures. Last September, for example, it was reported that 21 cases of proven or suspected tuberculosis were discovered aboard the U. S. Carrier Boston in the previous 15-month period."

Three Key Factors

It was noted that generally these outbreaks are most likely to occur when three conditions are present: 1—When numbers of the group have not acquired immunity through previous exposure to the disease; 2—When the environment is overcrowded and badly ventilated, and 3—When the tuberculosis bacilli are present, almost invariably coming from someone with active pulmonary tuberculosis.

Dr. Schwartz as president of the TB and Health Association termed the Wasp outbreak, "another unfortunate reminder that tuberculosis is far from eradicated. We still have a long way to go," he said, "and that last laps will probably be the hardest."

"To hasten the disappearance of tuberculosis," Dr. Schwartz said, "there are two main things the individual can do. First is to be sure to have an annual medical checkup that includes a tuberculin test or a chest X-ray, and second, every citizen can help by using Christmas Seals and making a contribution to the local Tuberculosis and Health Association to support the efforts that will lead, eventually, to virtual eradication of tuberculosis and control of the other respiratory diseases."

Currently, the Ulster County Christmas Seal Campaign is underway throughout the city and county. John M. Robbins and Fred J. DuBois, county co-chairmen, joined Dr. Schwartz in urging residents of the city and county to continue their generous support of TB Respiratory Disease health program and service through contributing to Christmas Seals.

"This Wasp TB outbreak," the co-chairman said, did not appear as a contrived effort to support raising Christmas Seal funds. As an unfortunate and rather sobering outbreak of a still infectious disease, this proves with staggering reality that we must all continue to recognize the threat. In our own area, we must support our TB Association's TB-RD health programs, dedicated and geared to the tuberculosis and respiratory disease fight. Through it we all can work to avoid a Wasp tuberculosis epidemic from happening here in Ulster County.

State AFL-CIO Urges Broad Program for Albany Solons

BUFFALO — A broad program of legislation designed, he said, "to promote the best interests of the people," was outlined here today by Raymond R. Corbett, president of the two-million-member New York State AFL-CIO.

He spoke at a public hearing held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel by the Democratic State Committee headed by John J. Burns, former Binghamton mayor, and noted that the 1965 session, the first under Democratic control for 30 years, "was the most successful one for labor in as many years."

As the "first plank" in labor's legislative program for 1966, Corbett called for "speedy burial" of two pre-filed measures that ask Congress to approve the Constitutional amendment of Sen. Everett McK. Dirksen (R., Ill.) that would cancel out the Supreme Court's "one man one vote" decision.

Allowing states to elect one house of the Legislature on a basis other than population, as the amendment would do, "would take away from the people their rightful voice in the Legislature" because "without fair representation we would only delude ourselves if we expected fair legislation," he said.

Asks Repeal of Section

Corbett urged that both houses of the Legislature support a resolution asking Congress to repeal Sec. 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, already passed by the House of Representatives, asserting it "serves only the low-wage anti-workingman selfish interests and depresses the whole national economy, including New York's."

Sec. 14(b) allows states to have laws forbidding unions and managements to include in labor-management contracts a provision for union security, that all employees covered by a contract pay union dues as their share of the cost of obtaining and policing it.

Charging that the Governor vetoed "almost everything constructive that was passed" in 1965, Corbett recalled that in Rochester December 4 the Governor "boasted: 'We have not imposed a single new tax on business'" since he took office, stating "I believe in helping business."

"All well and good," Corbett commented. "But we believe the Governor should exert equal effort in helping people."

Corbett listed as top priority items in labor's legislative program at the 1966 session, bills to:

Update workmen's compensation benefits awarded years ago and based on wages and costs of living of 10, 20 and more years back. The Governor vetoed such a bill in 1965.

Provide statewide pre-paid hospital insurance for all employees and dependents in private business and industry. A labor-backed bill to do this was introduced but not acted on last session.

Repeal of the Condon-Wadlin law and its replacement with a measure to give labor relations rights to government workers. Such a bill was vetoed by the Governor in 1965.

"Condon-Wadlin (prohibiting and providing penalties for strikes by government workers) has not prevented strikes, will not prevent strikes and cannot prevent strikes," Mr. Corbett said. "What can do so is decent legislation guaranteeing collective bargaining rights for public employees."

Other Goals

Corbett also urged passage of measures to:

Authorize an investigation of how the sickness disability program is financed. He said the cost was to have been shared equally by workers and employers but that a State AFL-CIO study showed workers paid 99 per cent of the cost over the years.

Fix the statewide minimum wage at at least $1.50, though a $2 an hour rate is "needed now."

Ban use of professional strike-breakers and of so-called lie detectors in employment.

Adjust automatically each year maximum benefits in unemployment insurance, workman's compensation and sickness disability at 3% the average weekly wage of workers covered by these laws.

Provide dependent benefits under these laws to take into account the difference in the needs of a worker with and without dependents.

In addition Corbett listed more than a score of other bills whose passage is sought by labor including a variety of "necessary" amendments to the three social insurance laws, improvements in the field of education, consumer protection, job safety, shorter work week and revision of the state's tax program by "repeal of the sales tax and an equitable distribution of the income tax burden."

WHAT'S THERE TO "REAPPRAISE"?

A group of Yale University professors and students, including an eminent divine, an eminent Dante scholar, and, to be perfectly fair, a few eminent political scientists, have signed one of those $5,000-to-$8,000 newspaper advertisements calling for a "nationwide reappraisal of our Far Eastern Policy." The name of the group sponsoring the advertisement is Americans for Reappraisal of Far Eastern Policy, and it wants to negotiate with Red China, beginning with the question of Red Chinese admission to the UN.

Well, in a fluid world there is nothing eternally sacrosanct about any policy. But just how do you negotiate with a country like Red China? Where do you begin when the conditions are all laid down for your defeat before you have even so much as opened your mouth? And how do you trust a man like Mao Tse-tung, who says that "political power grows out of the barrel of a gun"? Let's start with this matter of UN admission before going on to other matters in the Far East. The Red Chinese thinks need "reappraisal." The Red Chinese has spurned the UN recently, and have even talked of setting up a rival "peace body." But they have said enough in the past to indicate they might condescend to take a seat by Manhattan's East River if the rest of the world would be good enough to change the UN character and expel "all imperialist puppet states." The Taiwan Chinese would, of course, have to be thrown out; Red China has said it won't sit with the "Chiang Kai-shek clique." Satisfaction for Red China here would require a preliminary abandonment on the part of the Taiwan Chinese of their right to a veto in the UN Security Council. Presumably if the law is to hold, the Taiwan Chinese can't be thrown to the wolves without their prior consent. This, no doubt, could be arranged if the U.S. were sufficiently Machiavellian to threaten Taiwan with cancellation of an existing treaty of mutual defense. But if "reappraisal" were to involve such arm-twisting, there wouldn't be a country in the world that would continue to trust the U.S. in any vital matter.

Under Red Chinese conditions, the only way to make the UN "universal" is to begin by forcing the non-universality of Taiwan, a nation of 12,000,000 people. Twelve million isn't so much, but it's more than live in the Maldives lands.

Another condition laid down by the Red Chinese is that the UN repudiate its 1951 resolution condemning Peking as an aggressor in Korea. Thus there could be no negotiations looking to seat Red China in the UN without the UN itself eating crow. Even the League of Nations feeble reed that it was refused to bless the Russians for aggressing in Finland. In fact, it expelled the Russians for their behavior.

As for "negotiating" a peaceful solution of the Vietnam War, North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh has said he will talk when the U.S. has departed from Saigon. Very nice of the old revolutionary. We might meet him on his own terms by saying that we will talk when he gets his troops and agents out of South Vietnam. By all means let the South Vietnamese govern themselves without the intervention of either Ho Chi Minh or Lyndon Johnson—or, for that matter, Mao Tse-tung. Any time a "reappraisal" involves an even-handed quid pro quo, we are all for it.

The advertisement signed by a minority of the Yale community and sponsored by Americans for Reappraisal of Far Eastern Policy says "the United States and China are on a collision course." Pardon me, but the U.S. isn't following a single blessed thing that Red China owns. We have studiously and systematically refrained from giving Chiang Kai-shek offensive military weapons such as big bombers or missiles or atomic warheads. We don't even let him buy landing craft, and during the Korean War we used the Seventh Fleet to keep him from attacking the Chinese mainland. There is going to be no "collision," it will be because the Red Chinese get between us and the North Vietnamese forces that are trying to throttle a small, inoffensive agrarian people in South Vietnam who are suffering because Ho Chi Minh himself has consistently refused to abide peacefully by the Geneva Agreements of 1954. Incidentally, he signed the Agreements and we didn't. (Copyright, 1965, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE WELL CHILD

Relatively Rare Disease Affects Child's Coloring

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D., Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her son, 5, was born with alcaptonuria. This relatively rare metabolic disease is detected by noting that the baby's urine is dark in color. The air, or if an alkali is added, the color darkens and if the diaper is allowed to dry it becomes coal-black. Melanin, the skin pigment of freckles and sunburn, is abundant in the skin of these children. This becomes more noticeable, especially in the face, as the child grows older.

The disease is hereditary and is caused by the absence of an enzyme. Dietary restriction of protein will lessen the urinary output of the stain but, because the disease has no other effect on the child's health, this is not advised. There is no treatment for the condition at present.

Q—Our daughter, 5, is allergic to horses, which she dearly loves. If she goes near them, her eyes water, she sneezes and itches all over. Her eyes then keep her away from horses, is there anything we can do?

A—Many drugs are effective in treating allergic reactions but their use as a preventive is not advised. Desensitizing injections of an extract of horse dander is of some value but is not as effective as avoiding horses completely. As a last resort, your daughter could wear a respirator when she just has to be around horses.

Q—My daughter has an allergy to penicillin. I would like her to have the measles vaccine but have been told it has penicillin in it. What do you advise?

A—There are two kinds of measles vaccine. The live virus vaccine may contain a small amount of penicillin. If it is used your daughter should stay in the doctor's office for an hour after the injection so that, at the first sign of an allergic reaction, a dose of an antihistamine can be given. It would be simpler, however, to give her the inactivated virus vaccine which contains a small amount of the antibiotic, neomycin. This drug is not related to penicillin.

Q—Would trying to break a child of being left-handed make him stutter?

A—No. All children stutter when learning to talk. The habit becomes permanent only when you call a child's attention to it and thus make him self-conscious about his speech. The cause of stuttering is trying to break a child of stuttering.

counties, reported a lapse of more than 30 months between the time a suit is filed and a decision rendered. Worst was Cook County (Chicago), with a delay of 69.3 months.

It's doubtful if even Shakespeare was thinking in terms of over five and a half years when he spoke of "the law's delay."

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Much ado has been made about the unwillingness of the United States in late 1964 to talk with a Ho Chi Minh representative in Rangoon, Burma.

Let's look at the facts:

1. THE PROPOSITION was that President Johnson's man would meet secretly behind the back of the Saigon government.

To the South Vietnamese that would have spelled a sellout.

At this particular time, the Vietnamese leaders and many of the United States people doubted the United States would stay and back them up. In August of that year, every Vietnamese I met—Foreign Minister Quat, army officers in the field, local hamlet officials, university students—asked me if the United States would really stay or whether we were getting ready to abandon them to the Reds.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk's advisers believed that behind-the-back talks at that time would cause the Saigon government to fall and would lead Vietnamese who had been fighting the Communists for a decade to give up. It might well have meant troop and civilian desertions and a Red takeover from within.

Think, for example, of the plight of a hamlet chief who had defied Red terrorists for years, if he learned the Americans were holding secret meetings with the Communists at a time when the war was going very badly and Ho was making it clear he would deal only on his terms.

2. THE UNITED STATES AT THAT TIME had chafed into Hanoi. Our contacts were the diplomats of certain third countries.

tries. (One is understood to have been Commissioned: Seaborn of Canada.)

The major contacts were in touch with Ho's top officials, including his premier and foreign minister.

They reported Ho believed he was winning and not interested in negotiations.

They made it clear that any Ho agreement on a meeting was on the understanding the United States was defeated and looking for a way to abandon South Vietnam gracefully.

The implicit terms of the proposed meeting, as U. S. diplomats understood them, were that this country would agree to regard the aggression in South Vietnam not as aggression but purely an internal civil war in which Washington had no business meddling.

A few months after the date of the proposed U. S.-North Vietnam meeting in Burma, Ho announced terms which included these points. It was understood they were preconditions.

a. The Saigon government must immediately be thrown out and replaced by a coalition government (part Communist) formulated by the North Vietnam Communist party and published by the National Liberation Front.

b. U. S. troops must immediately be removed from Viet Nam.

c. The South Vietnamese army must be revamped according to Ho's concepts.

To have agreed to the direct and indirect conditions surrounding the proposed Rangoon meeting would have meant abandoning what the United States was fighting for in Viet Nam.

The first U. S. Naval Training Station was established at Newport, R. I., in 1883.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

TORONTO, Canada — There was a time of old snow, like a rusty halo, around this metropolis when the plane landed. The assignment was simple: appear on a television program called Front Page Challenge as a mystery guest. Now it was no longer simple I saw Margaret Chase Smith on the plane. She is the United States Senator from Maine.

She is a shrewd pixy with sparkling blue eyes, white hair, pink skin and a mind like a brand new razor blade. I am bigger than she, but her footwork is better. A year or more ago, when she decided to toss her flowered bonnet into the ring for the presidency, I told her off in print. I am loud and raucous. I do not believe that, when congressmen die, their wives are automatically qualified to succeed them.

Mrs. Smith is a cautious, moderate Republican. She is neither right nor left, up nor down. She aspired to be the first woman to have her name placed in nomination for the presidency, and no one had the nerve to stand up and say: "Now look here, you little pipsqueak..."

She got off the plane then Kelly and I got off. A man named Roger McKean met us and said: "I have a car for you. You may be surprised to learn that Senator Margaret Chase Smith is going to be on the program with you. In fact, if you don't mind, she'll ride into town with you." My wife smiled smugly. She saw the death pallor on my face. There was no way out. "Delighted," I said, lying in my teeth. He introduced the Senator to us and we shook hands and beamed at each other. Then we got in the car. The ladies in the back; I with the driver.

The fight would start any second, so I half turned toward the Senator. I was irritated to note that she made a trim, demure figure. She wore a plain black jacket with a carnation boutonniere in a tiny patch of water, and a Persian lamb hat. She had small feet encased in black studee. Unlike most Senators, she carried no retinue of buffers with her. No executive secretary; no press secretary; no traveling companion. She learned that she would get no conversation from me, so she led off by saying that she once wrote a syndicated column. "I couldn't keep it up," she said. "The amount of work, and answering the mail, was enormous. So I dropped it. I understand you write a column and do books too."

I said yes. She said she was going to buy a certain book of mine. Gallantly, I said no, I'd send it. "That's kind," she said, smiling with those snowy teeth, "but I'd prefer to buy it. I began to wonder when she would bring up the subject of the column in which I shredded her. She turned to Kelly. "Do you like to shop? I dread it. I don't mind looking in windows, but I don't like to select things. There are so many items which look attractive, but when you get them home, you don't know where to put them."

We talked about the program. "If you people on the panel ask me who the next Republican nominee is, I'm going to say we have a lot of good men and a

Better Uses Are Pointed Out For Debt Interest Billions

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What might be done with $12 billion if the United States government could save what it pays out now in annual interest on the public debt? This expenditure is next to the highest item in the entire budget, ranking second only to the national defense. The annual interest obligation in the five-year period from June 30, 1961, to June 30, 1966 will have risen by $3 billion because the Federal debt itself will show an increase of approximately $36 billion. During this same five years, too, the Federal government has had a cumulative deficit of $32 billion in the budget.

"Deficit spending" is popular nowadays, and the country has been urged by Administrative officials, as well as by many leading economists, to accept the doctrine that deficits are constructive and a boon to the national economy. The prevailing idea today is that deficits and the public debt do not matter, irrespective of how high they continue to go. Much of the so-called "Great Society" program has been undertaken in the belief that the country isn't going to worry about deficits any longer.

But the bigger and bigger interest payments point up what is really happening as the deficits accumulate. Nobody in the government seems to be much concerned about what it means to pay out $12 billion a year in interest on borrowed money. Nor does there seem to be much criticism because the government has to borrow the money with which to pay almost all of the interest. Indeed, indications are that the interest will go up to $13 billion in the next fiscal year.

If frugality and a balanced budget had been a national policy under this and preceding administrations, the interest cost would be far lower today. But the spending of from $12 billion to $13 billion annually for interest charges alone appears to be the prospect now, and this might even be substantially increased in the next five years, because so many citizens have been "brainwashed" into thinking that "deficit spending" is the key to economic progress.

It is perhaps pertinent to note what $12 billion could provide if the Federal government had balanced its budgets, held down or reduced the national debt, and cut off the interest charges so as to retain $12 billion annually. Here are some of the different uses to which the $12 billion could then be put:

1. Pay for most, if not all, of the increase in military spending arising out of the war in Viet Nam from July 1, 1964, to June 30, 1967.
2. Pay for the present anti-poverty program for a period of more than nine years.
3. Provide enough money to meet the Federal government's share of public-assistance programs for almost three and a half years.
4. Pay the Federal government's share of the Federal-aid highway program for three years.
5. Make an average payment of more than $1,000 to each of the 11.9 million families which according to the government definition, were "poor" in 1964.
6. Pay for almost all the estimated benefit payments under the new hospital-insurance plan—"Medicare" for the aged—for the next five fiscal years beginning July 1, 1966.
7. Pay the full costs of veteran's compensation and pensions for three years.
8. Pay for almost half the cost of putting a man on the moon by providing for more than two years' outlays by the Federal space agency.
9. Pay for almost a full year the entire payroll of the military forces, including allowances.
10. Change the estimated 1966 budget deficit from $8 billion to a surplus of $4 billion.

Any one of these uses of $12 billion would be constructive, but in the present mood in Washington no such fiscal policy is likely to be given any consideration. Indeed, as long as the American people are indifferent, the prospect is for continued deficits, a rising national debt, and increases in the interest payment of billions. The danger is that the amount of money the government has to borrow to pay its bills could create an inflationary psychology and generate fears that the dollar might come to be worth only a few pennies in purchasing power.

The moral is that interest on debt is an expense that should be paid out of a balanced budget and should not be constantly borrowed.

The archfish gets its name because of its habit of projecting water from its mouth, thus wetting insects and knocking them into the water. This fish, which can be raised in home aquariums, reaches a length of 6 to 7 inches and can throw a jet of water almost as long as its body with amazing accuracy. Foundling Girls Doing Well, Mothers Sought

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"Merry Carol" and "Baby Girl Doe" — two newborn baby girls abandoned over the weekend — were both reported doing well today as police sought their mothers.

Investigators said today, however, that they had no clue to the identities of the two babies, who were given temporary names by hospitals in Herkimer and Buffalo, where they were found.

In Herkimer, the 4-pound, 12-ounce girl was reported in good condition at Memorial Hospital. Now named "Merry Carol," she was found wrapped in a towel and the top of a woman's nightgown — in an apartment house trash can.

The infant in Buffalo — "Baby Girl Doe" — was reported in satisfactory condition at Meyer Memorial Hospital. The 2-pound, 2-ounce premature girl was discovered in the vestibule of a church, wrapped in a hotel towel and a blanket.

Officials at Meyer said she had been placed in an incubator and was "holding her own." Hospital spokesmen in Herkimer said the "sweet little baby" found there was also in an incubator and "seems to be doing well." They believed she was a full-term baby who was abandoned within a few hours of her birth. She was discovered Saturday in a trash can in an apartment house at 210-212 N. Main St., Herkimer. A resident called the janitor when she thought she heard a cat crying. The janitor found the tiny baby in the trash can, which was grouped with several others under a stairway. Patrolman Harry Heath, one of the investigators, Sunday estimated the baby had been there for more than 1½ hours. "Leaving it in the trash can," he said, "shows somebody definitely wanted the baby to die. That's just not much heart."

It could at least have been left on a doorstep. Baby Girl Doe was discovered Saturday, approximately 10 hours after her birth, police said, by a custodian at St. Gerard's Roman Catholic Church in Buffalo. The infant was found wrapped in a hotel towel and a blanket on a covered radiator.

Assemblyman Wilson Notes Pre-Filed Legislative Bills

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), of Ulster County announced today that he has pre-filed three bills in the State Assembly which would amend major sections of the Agriculture and Markets Law, the Election Law and the Penal Law.

His proposed amendment to the Penal Law would allow the imposition of the death penalty in connection with the murder of a child who has been kidnapped. Assemblyman Wilson pointed out that there have been many occasions when a child has been abducted and held for ransom, and then murdered, even though the ransom money has been paid. Mr. Wilson said that many times a kidnapper will kill his victim in the hope of avoiding detection, and the local assemblyman said that threat of the death penalty for such an action might act as a deterrent. Wilson said that if such deterrent would save the life of even one child, the amendment to the law would prove its worth. The penal law was changed last year in New York State to abolish the death penalty, except in connection with the murder of a police officer in the performance of his duty, or the murder of a prison guard by a prisoner serving a life term.

The amendment to the Election Law proposed by Wilson would allow vacancies on the county committee of a political party to be filled by the local town or city committee, rather than by a vote of the entire county committee. Assemblyman Wilson said that under the provisions of the present law, if a committeeman of a political party should die, resign, or leave the area, the entire county committee would have to convene and elect a person to fill that vacancy. The Ulster County Assemblyman said the present procedure is time consuming and cumbersome, and that his amendment would allow such vacancies to be filled, not only quickly, but at the local level where they should be filled.

Three Arrested After Hyde Park Traffic Mishap

Three persons, including a 17-year-old Highland youth, were arrested by Dutchess county deputy sheriffs Friday after a traffic accident on Cream Street and Compton Road, Hyde Park.

George W. King Jr. of Vineyard Avenue, Highland, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a license. He pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Hulet A. Silvermale, Town of Hyde Park, and was fined a total of $75.

Deputies said a car driven by King hit a utility pole. The vehicle was later found abandoned about three miles from the accident.

Two of the occupants of the car at the time of the mishap escaped injury, but were later charged with disorderly conduct after allegedly running into the nearby woods. They were identified as Ralph Cline, 18, of 275 Mansion Street, Poughkeepsie, and Melvin Cross, also 18, of 54 Taylor Avenue, that city. Both pleaded guilty and Judge Silvermale fined each $25 or five days in the county jail.

His bill concerning the Agriculture and Markets Law, Assemblyman Wilson said, would allow dog owners a break on obtaining licenses by cutting in half the license fees which are taken out on, or after, July 1. He pointed out that under the present law, if a person secures a dog license anytime during the year the full fee is paid, even if the license is to be issued for a month or two.

The local Assemblyman stated that his bill will make the dog license fees conform to the present set-up for automobile registration, in that a person securing a license for half a year, or less, would only have to pay a fee for one half the regular amount. Wilson said that he did not feel that the state would lose an significant amount of revenue from his bill since many dog owners do not license their animals during the last six months of the year, and he added, the bill might even provide additional revenue by offering delinquent dog owners an opportunity of obtaining such license at a reduced rate.

Mr. Wilson stated that his legislation program for 1966 will contain several other important matters, and that he will announce his legislation as soon as it is prepared and filed.

Esopus to Hold Hearing Tuesday On Chicken Farm

Supervisor Roger W. Mabie, Town of Esopus, said today a meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Town Hall at Port Ewen to discuss complaints from a group of residents in the Spring Valley Acres development about methods of operation of a chicken farm nearby.

The supervisor reported that Harry F. Edinger, director of Environmental Sanitation of the Ulster County Health Department, and Robert D. Guzowich, associate county agricultural agent, will attend the meeting to take part in the discussion.

It was noted that the chicken farm facility is an automated operation and houses approximately 45,000 chickens. The protests centered around the alleged improper manure and dead chicken disposal. It was alleged that a number of wells in the area have been polluted by chicken manure seeping into the ground.

Supervisor Mabie at a Town Board meeting on Dec. 9, reviewed the steps that have been taken by the County Board of Health to correct the situation. It was stated at that time the farmer has been directed to concrete the bottoms of his manure pits and the work was started.

The type of facility, if properly operated, is reportedly the most efficient and sanitary type of chicken farming yet devised.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The voracious appetite of Americans for goods and services has kept the economy booming for almost five years. U.S. producers and businessmen have been able to meet the demand and profit by it even though supply still exceeded the growing appetite.

Emphasis Swings to Supply

But for the first time the emphasis is swinging toward supply rather than demand — supply of production facilities, supply of workers skilled enough to man them. This could determine how 1966 shapes up.

Consumer, business and government demands for goods and services are expected to go on expanding in 1966. Will the supply be enough to meet all of them? Or will there be a pinch? And will this pinch mean rising prices, or will it cause a slowing down of the expansion at last?

The Viet Nam war will increase the demand for both goods and manpower. So will the programs started or planned under the label of the Great Society.

When the current upswing started early in 1961, idle facilities were a problem. The gap between actual production then and the potential was put at 10 per cent.

But demand has grown more rapidly than new productive facilities have been built and now the gap is about one-fifth what it was, and only a bit more than half what it was a year ago. It is this sudden narrowing of the gap in the last year that leaves little elbow room in which the economy can operate.

Could Cause Pinch

Any further tightening — and some is expected — could cause a pinch next year, the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York notes in its current survey.

Plans, offices and service establishments have to be manned, and most with skilled and experienced manpower. In 1965 the economy called for 1,700,000 jobs more than in 1964.

The labor force grew by about 1,300,000, meaning that about 400,000 unemployed found work — or, more precisely, that unemployment dropped by that figure.

The bank says that in 1966 some 1,400,000 more will enter the labor force. But it notes that the Defense Department expects to expand the military forces by perhaps 275,000. This would leave some 1,125,000 newcomers to the civilian labor force, many relatively inexperienced and unskilled. If 1966 is to see another gain of 1,700,000 in civilian employment, about 600,000 would have to be absorbed from the ranks of the unemployed.

That's all to the good. But the question still remains: Will the newcomers and the unemployed furnish enough skilled and trained workers to keep a highly specialized economy expanding as fast as in recent years? That, and tightening of production facilities, might slow down the civilian economy more than any government fiscal policy could expand it.

Space Job Again In TV Limelight

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's really exciting show the past weekend was the second of its two-part drama on the recovery of the record-breaking astronauts, complete with happy ending.

The Saturday morning live coverage from the carrier Wasp was as expert and satisfying as it had been two days before. It would have been even more thrilling if we had been able to see the astronauts as they actually emerged from the capsule, but their eagerness to get out as soon as possible was easy to understand.

Viewers eventually will become accustomed to front-row seats on history as it happens. But right now when it is new and stimulating, the effect is to make television's usual action-adventure series seem even more contrived and trite than usual.

Thus it was a long, long dive from Saturday morning's return of the space travelers to Sunday night's "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea." The latter seemed like a comedy-satire.

The colorful special effects of the ABC series are marvelous, particularly the scenes inside that very convincing submarine of the future. But the story lines often leave something to be desired.

CBS' "20th Century" Sunday night had a fascinating film account of a real life adventure in rescuing wild animals stranded and starving in flooded jungle areas of Surinam, South America.

Star of the too-short half-hour was a bearded young American named John Walsh. Working for the International Society for the Former Scouter Aids Council for College Course

A Kingston girl with eleven years of scouting background has returned as a college freshman to assist the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts in a community service program.

Miss Mary Lou Josefski, a student at Keuka College, has been working at the council offices, 1 Van Buren Street, for the past several weeks as part of the community service requirement of the college. Freshmen at Keuka log in 120 hours of such service in a field of their choice.

The selection of the Girl Scout field was a natural one for Miss Josefski. During her years as a member of troops at St. James Methodist Church, she also served as program aide to other troops. She was selected as a delegate to this year's Senior Roundup in Idaho and in 1962 as a Senior Roundup alternate.

During her stint at the council office, Miss Josefski coordinated the annual Camp Wendy reunion for 200 girls and assisted a new troop of Junior Girl Scouts at the John F. Kennedy School. With Mrs. David Ennis executive director of the county council, she attended neighborhood and troop meetings in other areas, explaining the Promise in Action program and relating her senior roundup experiences.

After her years as a Girl Scout, Miss Josefski is now learning the inner workings of the council which make the whole program possible. As part of her community service study, she conducted a survey of the Kingston area as a whole, touching on historical background, ethnic groups, economic growth and population figures. This survey, although compiled for the college requirement, was of benefit to the scout office detailing information needed by adult workers in mapping out an effective program for local scouts.

At Keuka, sophomore students devote 120 hours to cultural study while juniors and seniors work in their chosen vocational fields. Miss Josefski is in the nursing division at the Finger Lakes area college. In addition to her scouting activities through the years, Miss Josefski was very active with the Methodist Youth Fellowship at St. James Church and held Senior MYF district and sub-district offices.

She is an honor graduate of Kingston High School where she was soloist with the a cappella choir. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Josefski of 88 Wrentham Street.

Peace Feeler

disclosure of the exchange over peace negotiations would hurt any chances that now exist for such talks.

"I think we would continue to hope that this matter will be transferred from the battlefield to the conference table. So I do not feel discouraged," he said.

"If there is a genuine desire on both sides to negotiate, that desire will surmount whatever the difficulties are of disclosure."

Maneuver Attacked

But Dr. Benjamin Spock and H. Stuart Hughes, co-chairmen of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, attacked the administration on the ground that it was "avoiding negotiations (by publication of the correspondence) in order to keep the National Liberation Front (the political arm of the Communist guerrilla forces in South Vietnam) out of any future government in Saigon."

North Viet Nam itself denounced the whole thing Saturday as a hoax and in effect denied that a peace probe had been made.

The Communist Chinese chimed in Sunday, calling the report of peace feelers a "U.S.-made hoax" which "fools nobody."

U.S. officials here were impressed by the decree of confirmation in the Hanoi broadcast, however, of the main mechanical fact of the reported peace offer—the meeting Nov. 11 between La Pira and Italian Professor Mario Primicerio, with Ho and Premier Pham Van Dong.

The North Vietnamese announcement differed in its emphasis from the account which La Pira passed on to Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, the U.N. General Assembly president, and which Fanfani reported to Washington in a Nov. 20 letter to President Johnson.

The La Pira-Fanfani account said the Vietnamese were prepared for peace negotiations on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreements creating Viet Nam provided the United States would accept the Communists' four-point program, which Hanoi called its definition of the Geneva treaty, as a basis for the talks.

The Hanoi account which denounced the State Department disclosure said flatly that "the United States must recognize these four points and show this with practical deeds so as to find a political solution to the Viet Nam problem."

That is in line with North Viet Nam's standard public position but it is harder as a statement of policy than the La Pira version reported by Fanfani and released in the Fanfani letter to Johnson.

Diplomatic authorities said privately they thought the Hanoi government might have considered it necessary to issue Saturday's denial to preserve its position with Communist China, which is regarded here as vehemently opposed to peace in Viet Nam. But officials said it was equally possible and perhaps more logical that North Viet Nam's leaders simply aren't ready to negotiate yet on any terms other than their own.

The principal Communist term which the Johnson administration has been totally unwilling to accept is Point Three, which requires that the Communists have a decisive role in the future of South Viet Nam. Johnson and Rusk have taken the position that on this issue there can be no compromise.

Fanfani's letter to Johnson was answered by Rusk Dec. 4 and Fanfani sent the essence of the reply along to North Viet Nam. Rusk asked for clarification on several points of La Pira's version of Ho's statement.

Diplomatically, therefore, the next move would appear to be up to Hanoi. "No answer has reached me as of today," Fanfani said Friday.

When the sequence of events became public, U.S. officials went to great efforts to emphasize that the apparent peace feeler had not been rejected as reported by the Post Dispatch.

But the next day, the Post-Dispatch quoted "well-placed diplomats" at the United Nations as saying U.S. bombing last Wednesday of an electrical power plant in the vicinity of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong constituted a clear answer to the peace offer.

In a story by U.N. correspondent Donald Grant, the paper said Johnson had been informed in advance of the air strike that any such action would "close the door to negotiations." Goldberg, however, said Sunday that this is "completely untrue."

There were these other weekend developments: President Johnson received a report Sunday from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield on a 30,000-mile fact-finding trip dealing mainly with Viet Nam. Mansfield and four colleagues who accompanied him said upon their arrival in Washington Saturday night that "the longer a solution is delayed, the more extended the destructiveness of the conflict will become and the more difficult the restoration of a rational and durable peace."

Pope Paul VI, speaking to 20,000 persons in St. Peter's Square, appealed to "responsible leaders" to heed at the least a Viet Cong proposal for a 12-hour Christmas Eve cease-fire in Viet Nam. "We hope that from the cease-fire there would follow reflections and negotiations, then finally the equilibrium of concord and peace."

Goldberg, commenting on the Pope's appeal, said that the United States seeks peace "not only for Christmas but for all time." As for the Viet Cong proposal, Goldberg said "our local commanders have been authorized to work that out provided it can be done without themselves being fired on."

Exchange Charges In Altercation Near Shawangunk

Counter charges were filed in a Town of Shawangunk altercation which allegedly took place outside Betty's Tavern, Brunswick, Town of Shawangunk, at about 2:30 a. m. Sunday.

State Police were notified of an alleged assault but were unable to respond because all men were tied up.

The Sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Sheriffs J. L. Freer and W. Walsh went to the area of Emil's Tavern in the Town of Gardiner where one of the complainants, Mrs. Louise Cimorelli, 40, of 295 Washington Street, Newburgh alias Lu-Lu, told the officers she had been assaulted by two unknown men at Betty's Tavern at Brunswick.

In the process of the assault she told the officers she had possibly run over one of the men with her car.

The officers, with Mrs. Cimorelli, went back to Betty's Tavern where they met Constable Eugene Corey of the Town of Shawangunk.

One man, Harry Floyd Caston, of Town of New Windsor; Orange County, suffered contusions and abrasions of the scalp and face. He and LeRoy Allen Smith, of Town of Newburgh, signed a complaint charging Mrs. Cimorelli with assault with a motor vehicle. Mrs. Cimorelli in turn signed a complaint charging the two men with an assault.

It was reported an argument had started inside the tavern at Brunswick and was continued outside the place. It was charged the injuries were sustained when she drove from the scene.

Before Justice M. J. Oscar Smith, of Town of Shawangunk, informations were sworn out, and the matter adjourned to December 29, at 7:30 p. m. All defendants were released in their own recognizance for appearances at that time.

McGovern Named Information Head For Archdiocese

His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman announced this week the appointment of the Very Rev. Msgr. Thomas McGovern as director of the Bureau of Information and the Office of Radio and Television of the Archdiocese of New York. He has been assistant director since January, 1963.

This position was held by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Timothy J. Flynn since February, 1957. Msgr. Flynn is the pastor of Holy Family parish, which serves the United Nations community and is located on East 47th Street. He is also a member of the Pontifical Commission on Communications.

Msgr. McGovern studied for the priesthood at St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, in Yonkers. He was ordained in June of 1950 by Cardinal Spellman at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Defenders Beat

the outskirts were not immediately available.

Fully Lighted
The Nba Be storage area was fully lighted, more so than usual, as though the defenders were taking no chances.

The rumpus in mid-evening could have been intended by the Viet Cong to mark the anniversary.

Earlier in the evening, a terrorist hurled a grenade at a truckload of U.S. soldiers on a bridge on the northern outskirts of the city en route to a U.S. base.

Six Yanks Injured
The grenade bounced off the rear of the truck and exploded in the street, slightly injuring two Americans and five or six Vietnamese, U.S. officials said.

The incident occurred despite the tightest security in years in the city of more than 1.4 million to guard against any major birthday incident. Officials said the wave of terrorism could continue until the new year.

The Communists took no holiday in the field.
Two Viet Cong companies attacked two outposts of the U.S. Marine Special Forces camp on the Plain of Reeds 40 miles west of Saigon. The U.S.-advised government forces threw back the Communists with tactical air support and claimed 29 Viet Cong killed.

Hit Cong Hideout
Twelve miles father west, battalions of South Vietnamese regional troops slammed into a Viet Cong hideout, killing 26 Communists and destroying 30 sampans and 53 buildings, spokesmen reported. The attack force also captured 10 sampans and found more than 100 grenades and a dozen weapons.

With an improvement in the weather, U.S. warplanes ended a two-day lull in the raids on North Viet Nam. Air Force F105 Thunderbolts dropped 49 tons of bombs and rockets on the Bac Can highway bridge 75 miles north of Hanoi, spokesmen said. Pilots reported two downed, a third damaged and damage to six anti-aircraft positions nearby that protect the strategic supply route from Red China.

One F105 went down after being hit by ground fire. The pilot ejected 45 miles south of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port, and was picked up by an Air Force rescue helicopter near an island. He had suffered slight burns. The chopper went through Communist ground fire to get him.

A small U.S. Army observation plane collided with a South Vietnamese single-engine aircraft on a support mission 27 miles south of Da Nang, killing both two-man crews.

Nearly 200 Cong Slain
Over the weekend, U.S. Marines and Army men marked the Viet Cong birthday by killing nearly 200 Communists in

Hit Route 28 Sign

Gerald McDonough, 25, of Lucas Avenue, city, was charged with failing to keep to the right, at 4:40 a. m. Sunday after his car hit a traffic sign on Route 28. Trooper Robert Mackey said McDonough's car also hit guard rails. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster. The summons was issued by Trooper Craig Bremner, who investigated the mishap.

Becker Is Appointed To State Law Post
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Theodore Becker, a career state employee, was appointed administrative director of the State Law Department today.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz named him to the $17,740-a-year post to succeed the late Murray R. Nathan.

Becker, 33, an Albany resident, had served for 27½ years in the Civil Service Department as assistant to the department counsel.

three clashes with sizeable Viet Cong forces.
With U. S. military personnel restricted to quarters by a dusk-to-dawn curfew, Saigon passed through the night without incident. A heavy guard patrolled the area of the U.S. Embassy and the U.S. Information Service office, both potential prime targets for Viet Cong birthday violence.

In the last six days, the Communists have staged at least an incident a day in the Saigon area.
The National Liberation Front was founded in 1960 under Communist leadership to give the political guerrilla insurgency a governing organization.

Call Goes Unheeded
A Viet Cong call on Saigonese to observe 15 minutes of silence Sunday to protest the war passed unheeded as traffic flowed and business continued uninterrupted.

"It was a flop, a fiasco," commented a U.S. official.
The only terrorist action took place on the outskirts when a Viet Cong cyclist hurled a grenade at a police station, wounding six policemen. Police gunfire killed the terrorist.

In a flareup of action at the start of Christmas week, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division fought a Communist battalion 12 miles northwest of the coastal town of Qui Nhon, about 265 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Flying Horsemen came under Communist groundfire as they landed by helicopter in an area held by 1,500 to 2,000 Viet Cong. But by the time the shooting died down, the Americans counted 72 enemy dead, U.S. casualties were described as light. Most came when Viet Cong fire hit four 1st Cavalry helicopters.

Just 30 miles east of Saigon, the 173rd Airborne Brigade joined with the 1st Infantry Division to seek out and destroy a hard-core Viet Cong unit in a joint operation called "Smash."

Units Split Reds
Strengthened by South Vietnamese and Australian troops, the two U.S. units split the Viet Cong in a linkup following tactical air assaults and 1,600 rounds of artillery.

Moving into the Communist camp, Op action Smash claimed an early count of 16 Viet Cong dead, 4 captured and 20 suspects detained. The Aussies destroyed a large store of Viet Cong rice.

In Death Valley south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines collided with 400 Communist troops Saturday, breaking a lull in Operation Harvest Moon, which began Dec. 8 to trap a large Viet-Cong force. The Marines said 103 Reds were killed in the latest encounter in the 20-mile-long rice valley 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Marines and South Vietnamese troops claimed to have killed 1,200 Communists earlier in the sweep with ground and air attacks.

In Pleiku, South Vietnamese military officials announced they have quelled the latest uprising against the Saigon government by anti-Communist Montagnards, mountain tribesmen seeking autonomy in five central highland provinces. The officials said some of the tribesmen surrendered voluntarily after a brief revolt, while others were captured. Ring leaders will be punished, the officials said.

Takes Over Walkie-Talkie

Policeman Thwarts Burglary Attempt

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — "Are you in? Is everything clear?" inquired a voice on the walkie-talkie.

But everything wasn't clear—for a policeman stood at the receiving end of the message in a department store.

Capt. Richard Berstreat of the Geneva police mumbled replies to the messages and clicked the "send" button, while about 30 law officers searched streets near the store for the caller.

Replaces Youth

Berstreat had been at his post about five minutes when the first message came. Police said he had replaced a 17-year-old youth who was found hidden in the store.

The youth, Glen Parness of Buffalo, was arrested when police searched McGurdy's Department Store in a shopping plaza after closing time Saturday night.

Parness was scheduled for arraignment in Geneva City Court today on charges of third-degree burglary, conspiracy and possession of burglar's tools.

Chief Detective Anthony K. Cecere of the Ontario County district attorney's office said that about 30 minutes after Parness was arrested, the cruising police stopped two men in an automobile near the store.

The men, both of the Buffalo area, were arrested on valance charges and questioned about what Cecere said was an attempt to burglarize the store, using walkie-talkies for communications.

No other walkie-talkie unit was found, Cecere said. A search by police and about 30 city firemen turned up a parked car, however, which contained burglar's tools, including cutting torches.

Touched Off Friday

Cecere said the investigation was touched off Friday afternoon, when a hole was discovered in the roof of the store. A crowbar and a canvass sack were found on the roof near the hole. The attempted entry through the roof was halted, he said, by an inner cement roof. "We thought the burglar might not give up, but try the store," Cecere said. next best plan, which would be to secrete someone inside the Numismatics Club Sets Swap Table

A highly successful auction, conducted by Merwin Hommel, was the main feature of the recent meeting of the Mid-Hudson Numismatics Club, at the Hotel Stuyvesant. A large crowd of visitors attended and the event proved an exciting affair.

The group also recently held its Christmas party at Deane's Restaurant in Woodstock, and the evening was an enjoyable one for all those attending. Earl Sherwood served as master of ceremonies.

The next meeting of the organization is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 6 at 8 p.m. in the social rooms of the Saugerties Savings Bank. Highlight of the night will be a swap table. Members having too many coins of one kind may bring them in; possibly make an exchange with someone else who may be in need of these particular coins and who has something else to offer in return. Many members will also be present to offer advice about coins and help others with their collection. The upcoming meeting in Saugerties will offer the opportunity to discuss and add to collections.

State Approves Connelly Water From Port Ewen

Application filed by the Town of Esopus for permission to extend the Port Ewen Water District to include the Hamlet of Connelly at an estimated cost of $93,000, has been approved by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

Town of Poughkeepsie's application for permission to establish Beechwood Acres Water District in that township at an estimated cost of $36,500 also was listed in a number of application approvals.

Supervisor Roger W. Mabie said today that the water extension project was started in October by the Spinnwebber Construction Co., Inc., of Port Ewen and the work is 35 to 40 per cent done. The supervisor noted that it is expected, weather permitting, that the project will be completed late in February or early March.

Because of the drought conditions, which caused many wells in the area to run dry last summer, a group of residents and property owners in the Connelly area petitioned the Town Board for the extension of the water supply system. Mabie said that the area had been provided with water only through individual wells.

The supervisor stated that it is planned to sell bonds to finance the project sometime in January.

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS

The next day, after gathering holly, Peter passed the dump where the bushy little tree lay, but he did not recognize it.

"What a shame for a pretty little tree to be cut and not used," he said. "Maybe it would grow if I planted it again."

Of course trees don't grow, once cut, but Peter didn't know this. He planted it behind the church.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I received a holiday season card from the Humphreys of Arlington, Va. Commander William Charles Humphrey is retired, visits Kingston and was formerly from up around here. He sent me behind a modern card, an old postal card of Santa Claus, such as are considered rare today among collectors. Toys of war and destruction are not shown, just a toy drum and a doll.

Commander Humphrey belongs to the U.S.S. Oklahoma Association according to an illustrated letterhead he sent to Mrs. M. J. Anderson of Catskill Avenue. In the letter he enclosed an item from The Evening Star of Washington, D. C. of Nov. 20, 1965, in which there is an article on the "Carlyle House—Misty Memory of History" by Betty Murphy. It is said "it is not as preserved or polished like Mount Vernon, but interesting as any early American home, perhaps even more so because its been left undisturbed for so long and open to the public every day including Sundays and holidays. There is a small admission.

I always enjoy receiving mail from Lester Clark, of Clark Lumber Co. Inc., of 480 Washington Avenue, Kingston. He reads my columns on Rondout, and also is upset about seeing storekeepers put out their lights even before the holiday season, and close their establishments forever. One Rondout factory now has built a fine building in Port Ewen, and there he adds to the commerce, while it is a loss to Kingston and to Rondout. It is said, that only two per cent go back into business in an area after they are asked or forced to move. Time will answer all these questions.

Little by little families are moving away, some out-of-town, some to other parts of town. Kingston known to strive for that 30,000 population for years, yet never reaching it, what will this mass movement of people and stores do to Rondout and Kingston in the coming, let us say, 10 years, only time can tell.

I had an interesting visitor in author Manville B. Wakefield, who just published Coal Boats to Tidewater. Carl Carmer wrote the Foreword and Steingart Associates, Inc. of South Fallsburgh, printed the book. I think it will be out on all bookstands in a few days, and he told me he sent me one, from which I will be able to quote. It is about the D & H Canal of which there is so much interest. Mr. Wakefield is primarily an artist and illustrator and art teacher at the Tri-Valley Central School and at one of the colleges. He had a fine exhibit at Art Craft Camera Shop on Broadway in Kingston, where I first saw his work. Many of his illustrations are in his D & H Coal Boats to Tidewater book. I just glanced through his copy and saw the handsome illustrations which are done on a scratch board, a technique in which he is very clever. It reproduces well. It is white cardboard, with a special finish, over which he puts a smooth black, then he sketches with an instrument and the white shows through.

I had a telephone call from a reader who told me that the large round brick building between Broadway and Albany Avenue was called a "Gas Holder" he was told when he was in the city hall. It was around 1850 and 1860, when it was used for that purpose. I have a Kingston City Directory given me by Tom Walsh of the 17 Railroad Avenue bookshop, which mentions the Rondout and Kingston Gas Light Co. of Meadow Corner, Chambers Street.

In the days when we had a patrol walking through the downtown streets somewhere on Mill Street I understood, they had a comfort station, with heat and water and rest place. I remember Policeman Bill Reardon used to tell my father about it. He could use it all night, when other places were closed. Today there is no such place, surely in the days of astronauts, they could have such a place, with telephone and a walkie-talkie for the man on the beat to be in touch with his department at all times. I do not think there has been a man on the beat in the downtown section for some time.

L.I. Interchange Work to Begin In Spring of '66

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Construction is to begin this spring on a $22-million interchange between the Long Island Expressway and the Brooklyn-Queens Expressway, Gov. Rockefeller said today.

The State Department of Public Works is preparing bids to be offered in March on an estimated $8-million contract for construction of a viaduct, to be about 6 mile long. The remainder of the work is to be contracted later in 1965, Rockefeller's office said.

The viaduct, part of the interchange, will be designed to relieve traffic congestion on the Long Island Expressway where it intersects with the Brooklyn-Queens Expressway.

The viaduct will be above the Long Island Expressway from 46th St. to Maurice Ave.

Smith College, in 1892, became the first women's college to play basketball, although it was only on an intramural basis. One of the earliest teachers of women's basketball was Maude Sherman who later married James Naismith, physical education teacher and the inventor of the game of basketball. Today girls' basketball is so popular in Iowa that the annual state high school elimination draws more than 250,000 spectators.

Walter Ends Training

Second Lieutenant Richard W. Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Walter of 195 N. Village Ave., Rockville Centre, has completed the rigorous U. S. Air Force survival and special training course conducted by the Air Training Command at Stead AFB, Nev.

Lieutenant Walter, a pilot, received combat-type escape and evasion training for survival under adverse climatic conditions and hostile environments. The lieutenant is being assigned to Hunter AFB, Ga., with the Military Air Transport Service, which operates a global airlift system for U. S. Forces employing more than 1,000 modern aircraft.

Lieutenant Walter is a graduate of Massapequa High School. He received his B.A. degree in sociology from Syracuse University where he was commissioned upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program. The lieutenant is a member of Psi Upsilon. His wife, Joan, is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia McCullough of 19 Davis Street.

Completes Course

Second Lt. Franklin L. Grey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grey, Gardiner, completed a maintenance officer course Dec. 17 at the U. S. Army Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

During the 10-week course Lieutenant Grey received instruction in supervision of vehicular operations and organizational maintenance in armor units.

The 22-year-old officer was graduated from New Paltz Central High School in 1961 and from Norwich University, Northfield, in 1965.

School Suits Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is planning court suits against some school districts which maintained segregation policies.

Assistant Atty. Gen. John Doar said Sunday the list of potential defendants includes some districts which have rejected federal funds in an effort to preserve segregation.

Doar, speaking on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation," said: "If they don't do it voluntarily, we'll have to turn to the courts to require them to desegregate."

The Supreme Court in 1954 ordered an end to school segregation policies, and in 1964 Congress ordered a withholding of federal aid if segregation is practiced.

Doar didn't say how many districts would be involved nor did he specify the states.

Ford Promises Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford has promised to push for a new study of the executive branch.

It would be aimed at reforms similar to that proposed by two previous commissions headed by former President Herbert Hoover.

Ford said in a Sunday statement that since the last Hoover Commission closed shop 10 years ago, federal employment has risen by more than 100,000, federal expenditures by $57 billion and "vast new agencies and functions have come into being."

Would Cover All

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Chamber of Commerce task force says all Americans should be brought into the Social Security program.

The 100-member group, headed by editor Erwin D. Canham of the Christian Science Monitor, made its proposal in the second phase of a study of poverty.

The second report — on the sick, disabled and aged — also said the $44 minimum monthly Social Security benefit is unrealistically low.

13 Killed in Incidents

Conflict Sets Back Santo Peace Effort

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The precarious peace efforts in the Dominican Republic appeared today to have been dealt a shattering setback by a battle between army troops and former rebels.

At least 13 persons were believed killed in two shooting incidents Sunday. Twelve were reported killed in a six-hour battle that raged around a hotel on the outskirts of Santiago, the country's No. 2 city.

Reports Vary

There were conflicting reports on the cause of the battle that pitched army tanks against an estimated 125 former rebels barricaded in the rambling, two-story Hotel Matum. Shooting ended following the arrival of 150 U.S. paratroopers of the Inter-American Peace Force.

The violence spread to Santo Domingo, 120 miles to the south, where a policeman was disarmed and fatally shot through the head by a member of an angry pro-rebel mob, one of many roaming the littered downtown streets.

The tensions and threats by civilians in Santo Domingo to bring out hidden weapons prompted the IAPF to reinforce its small garrisons in the former rebel territory downtown.

Shooting could be heard in scattered parts of the capital late into the night. IAPF sources said none of the shooting involved the hemisphere army that was organized and brought here in early May to help force a peace in the Dominican revolution.

Explosion Rocks City

A violent explosion rocked the western part of Santo Domingo at midnight. There was no immediate report of the cause of the blast.

The Santiago hotel battle appeared to dash hopes of reintegrating rebel troops into the regular armed forces — a key step toward creating a peaceful climate for the general election planned for next June.

Angru labor leaders blamed the army and demanded that Garcia-Godoy fire the military chiefs or face a general strike. The president persuaded the labor leaders to wait until he has a chance to investigate and punish those responsible.

The Santiago fighting took the lives of nine army regulars and two rebels, including Col. Juan Lora Fernandez, former chief of staff of the rebel army. An unidentified civilian who joined the rebels inside the hotel also said.

13 Yanks Evacuated

Thirteen out of 18 Americans registered at the 45-room hotel were evacuated safely to a nearby air base, U. S. Embassy sources said. The other five were not at the hotel at the time.

All the Americans are working on a technical aid project initiated by Texas A&M University at the School of Superior Agricultural Studies near Santiago.

Commodore Francisco Rivera Caminero, the armed forces secretary, said the rebels started the battle by firing on army

Last Brooklyn Ship

NEW YORK (AP) — Navy Capt. Mark G. Tremaine, 44, of Wellsville, is the new captain of the U.S.S. Duluth, the last ship to be built at the Brooklyn Navy Yard before it closes in June.

Tremaine took command of the 570-foot, long amphibious transport dock ship in ceremonies here Saturday.

The Duluth's keel was laid two years ago. Completion of the 500-man ship will mark the end of 145 years of shipbuilding at the yard.

Rebel Capt. Jesus de la Rosa claimed the army opened fire on the hotel "without provocation." A rebel officer also denied an army claim that the rebels were armed with two heavy machine guns.

YOUR CHOICE

Suggests Fun Book For Certain Folk

By HAL BOYLE

NW YORK (AP) —Having trouble finding the right Christmas present for a friend?

Why not give him a book? Even if he already has a book, you can give him another.

Whether your friend reads the book is unimportant. Books have other than educational uses. They are great for curing insomnia, throwing at the cat and come in handy when you need to stand on something to reach a high shelf.

The next problem is what book to select. Naturally, that depends upon what kind of friend you are buying a present for. If he flunked out of Harvard, get him a book printed in large type and full of pictures. If he graduated from Yale get him one that has a portrait of a

In general, however, the main thing is to be sure the book has a lot of pages and looks expensive. Be sure also that it has a hard cover.

As a tentative guide, here—all in fun—are a few books one might send to people well-known in the news.

"The Hour of Giving"—Jack Benny.

"Up the Down Staircase"—Leo Durocher.

"At Play in the Fields of the Lord"—Billy Graham.

"Yes I Can"—Richard M. Nixon.

"The Source"—Lyndon B. Johnson.

"The Man with the Golden Gun"—Robert S. McNamara.

"World Without Sun"—any slum landlord.

"Lord of the Flies"—your friendly neighborhood exterminator.

"Never Call Retreat"—Norman Thomas.

"Manchild in the Promised Land"—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"Favor the Runner"—Adam Clayton Powell.

"A Soldier Speaks"—any trooper in Viet Nam.

"All Things Considered"—Harold E. Stassen.

"The Ambassador"—Bob Hope.

"The Light of the Past"—Barry Goldwater.

"Girl on the Run"—Lady Bird.

"Company's Coming!"—Ho Chi Minh.

"An Odor of Sanctity"—Charles de Gaulle.

"2,000 Insults for All Occasions"—comedian Jack E. Leonard.

"The Available Man"—Hubert H. Humphrey.

"O Strange New World"—Dean Rusk.

Named Chairman Of Bard Board

PAUL W. WILLIAMS

Annandale-on-Hudson — Dr. Reamer Kline, president of Bard College, today announced the election of Paul Whitcomb Williams, partner in the law firm of Cahill, Gordon, Reindel and Ohl, as chairman of the college Board of Trustees. Williams is a former U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Dr. Kline said the election of Williams reflects the increased responsibilities Bard faces as a result of five years of growth. Since 1960, the student body has increased from 270 to 560. At the same time, faculty salaries have been raised 40 per cent; a faculty sabbatical plan has been put into effect; and academic advances have been made especially in language and science departments.

Future plans include endowment of professorship and visiting lectureships, and increased student scholarship funds. The college also plans enlargement of its physical plant.

Williams, of 14 Sutton Place, New York City, is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School, and in 1958 was awarded an honorary LL.D. from the Institute of Technology, New Bedford, Mass.

Williams is a director of Goodwill Industries, Inc., and the New York Society for Crippled Children & Adults, Inc. He has served for many years as chairman of the professional division of the Boy Scouts of America, and as president of the Manhattan Council of the organization for five years. Williams also has served as chairman of the New York City Division of the American Cancer Society.

Williams was instructor in government at Harvard from 1926 to 1929; served in the Pacific Theatre as an officer with the U. S. Navy during World War II; and held a number of government and state positions. In 1954, Williams served as a State Supreme Court justice by appointment of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Democrats Elect Grad President

Peter P. Grad, twice campaign manager of Democratic elections in Woodstock, was elected new president of the Woodstock Democratic Club at its annual election of officers meeting last Thursday at Deanie's Restaurant.

Grad, who came to Woodstock several years ago from Massachusetts to take a position as electrical engineer at Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., succeeds Peter W. Rakov, who has served as president of the local political club for two consecutive terms. Grad has been extremely active in political circles in Ulster County and in Woodstock and this year spearheaded a movement urging local business men to lend more support to cultural endeavors and the arts in Woodstock.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting were: John Bonilla, an IBM employee and resident of Rock City Road, vice president; Joseph P. Lester, a stationery supplier and resident of Simmons Drive, re-elected to a fourth term as treasurer; and Susan Cox of Tinker Street, secretary.

Named to the Board of Directors were: Democratic Town Chairman Charles J. Tiano; Charles Mason of Wittenberg; Irving R. Kalish; retiring president Rakov; Mrs. Chester Miller of Lower Byrdcliffe Road; Betty Biesle of Rock City Road; Francis X. Turck, recent candidate for assessor in Woodstock; and Dwight Harris, resident of Shotwell Road.

New officers have announced that the club plans a major social function on Jan. 29, with details to be announced later.

Christmas Eve Service Set at Area Methodist

The annual Christmas Eve service at the Methodist Church of Shady will be highlighted this year by the church choir, under the direction of Mrs. Edward Balmer, presenting the history and music of the traditional Christmas hymns.

The service will be held in the church beginning at 7:30 p. m. on Friday, Dec. 24, with the public invited to attend.

The service will be led by the Rev. John B. Hanson, who will participate with the choir in the presentation of the hymns and their history. Decorations for the church are by the church choir, Eugene Pettet, president.

Following the evening service, the members of the choir will travel throughout the community singing carols to those people who are unable to attend the church service.

Jacoby Says Go After Tricks

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is another hand from the Complete Book of Duplicate Bridge that illustrates the problem of deciding whether to go out for all the tricks or to play safe for your contract.

The five of spades is opened against your three no-trump contract. If you go up with the queen and it holds, you can come to your hand with a heart and take the diamond finesse. If that works also you can run off your diamonds and by that time the opponent who holds the long clubs may let enough go so that you can set up an extra trick and wind up making 12 tricks. Or if the diamond finesse loses you will still do very well.

Dummy Guards Nativity Scene In Mekong Delta

By HUGH MULLIGAN
CAN THO, South Viet Nam (AP) — A lifesize mannequin in GI fatigues stands guard behind a sandbag bunker over the largest nativity scene in the entire Mekong River delta.

The Christmas creche in the 4th Corps military compound was put together with clothing store dummies, procured from a Saigon department store supplier. Then there were hours of labor, contributed by American soldiers and by church workers from surrounding Vietnamese Christian churches.

Worry About Property
"We worried about the propriety of having that security guard on duty at the bunker," said Lt. Col. Frank C. Riley, the corps chaplain from Augusta, Ga. "But after all, the compound was under mortar fire within the past five months and peace on earth is obtained only with eternal vigilance."

Riley, the Protestant chaplain, made numerous scrounging trips to Saigon with Maj. Alvin L. Campbell of Springfield, Ill., the Roman Catholic chaplain, to find the lifesize mannequins. Between them, they had only a little more than $100, most of it raised by passing the hat in the vicinity of the post exchange, officers club, enlisted men's bar and other sections of the high-rect district.

"When we finally located a man who could provide the dummies, he wanted $380," said Chaplain Riley.

At that point he decided to buy half figures at less than half the price.

Correct Half Arrives
For weeks Father Campbell worried that perhaps the Saigon supplier might send the wrong half. But the convoy managed to make the 70-mile trip down the delta without being intercepted by the Viet Cong, and the correct half, the upper half, of all 16 figures arrived on time.

Vietnamese church workers with the local Christian Missionary Alliance sewed beautiful garments for the mannequins. GIs went to work building a huge stable out of bamboo mats and fashioning wooden stilt legs for St. Joseph, the three Wise Men and the other traditional figures in the nativity scene.

Vietnamese girls from a church choir in Can Tho painted all the figures and, where proper, provided them with cotton bears, Vo Hiep, a petite and charming secretary, had planned to take three days off during Christmas to be with her family. Instead she took the time off to work on the crib in the compound.

Father Campbell found some gold — an ammunition box wrapped in gold gift paper, and frankincense — regular church incense — for the traditional Wise men's gifts. He couldn't find any myrrh, so the third Wise Man carries a bottle of creme de menthe, all wrapped up in silver paper.

"The contents were emptied first," said the chaplain. "No reflection intended on our security guard."

simistic viewpoint. Suppose that East holds both kings. He will put his king of spades on the queen and your spade stoppers will be gone immediately. Then he will get in with the king of diamonds and lead a third spade to his partner, whereupon your fine contract will have gone down.

If you play a low spade from dummy and win the trick with your ace, you can lose the diamond finesse with impunity because East won't be able to do anything about dummy's queen of spades.

The authors take the conservative position of recommending that you make your own decision. We have made ours. We go up with dummy's queen. To start with, we are in an automatic contract. South's no-trump opening is standard as is North's raise to three no-trump, and we want to try for as many tricks as possible.

Actress Counsels Movie Aspirants

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To all those girls out there who dream of becoming a movie star, Elizabeth Hartman has a message: you can do it.

Elizabeth did it. Without even getting out of breath. So new to the professional world is she that she still considers Youngstown, Ohio, her home.

There are several things you should know about Elizabeth Hartman.

She is pretty, though it is sometimes hard to detect the fact because of the way she pulls her hair back in severe style and wears no makeup.

"Yes, I've had people suggest I should look more glamorous. But I can't be what I'm not."

She is talented, as evidenced by her work in "A Patch of Blue" with Sidney Poitier. The story of a blind girl who is befriended by a Negro was premiered here to general huzzahs. Elizabeth was hailed as a brilliant new star.

She is strong-minded. ("I know what I want, and I aim to get it.")

Elizabeth Hartman knew what she wanted at the age of 13 in Youngstown. She started working at the local playhouse and continued through high school. After studying drama for a year at Carnegie Tech, she decided to tackle New York.

"From January to May I scarcely went out of my hotel except for my classes at the Actor's Workshop," she recalled. "I was terrified. I kept writing brave letters home, but my parents could read between the lines. They said I could come home any time I wanted. But I kept on spending their money. I must say they were wonderful."

Elizabeth, who is 24 and still returns to Youngstown when not working, has this advice to those girls who would like to repeat her success:

"Stay where you are and work in the local theater; don't try for Broadway or Hollywood until you are ready; want to act very earnestly; keep your dreams."

Caldor Opens Furniture Mart In Bedford Hills

A 12,000 square foot Furniture Mart has been opened by Caldor next to its promotional department store in Bedford Hills. Formal opening of the store was held Tuesday, several weeks ahead of schedule.

Caldor is scheduled to open a new discount store in the Town of Ulster area next April 1.

The furniture center is situated in a large store adjacent to Caldor's department store at the intersection of North Bedford road (Route 117) and Norm Avenue, outside of Mt. Kisco. Bernard Meyers, Caldor furniture buyer, and Albert Pashayan, furniture coordinator for Caldor, said the new furniture mart will feature a complete line of moderately-priced colonial, contemporary and traditional furniture with heavy stress on Early American styling. Separate areas show dining room, bedroom, living room and accessory displays.

Fred Danise, formerly a salesman in the furniture department of Caldor's Stamford store, has been named manager of the Bedford Furniture Mart under Caldor's policy of promotion from within. "The interior of the furniture mart has been designed to make shopping a pleasant and rewarding experience," Danise said.

Caldor officials said Tuesday's opening of the mart was several weeks earlier than originally scheduled to afford shoppers the opportunity to visit the center during the holiday period.

Dutchess Holsteins Get Record Listing

Two cows owned by Dutchess County dairies have established Registered Holstein records in tests conducted under supervision of Cornell University working in cooperation with the National Holstein Association.

The 1921 yearly production record exceeding a half ton of butterfat has been completed by a registered Holstein cow, Jayway Safe Piety Kay, owned by Hutting C. Winans & Son, Pine Plains. The New York Holstein's official record of production totaled 26,533 pounds of milk and 1,013 pounds of butterfat.

Dutchess Seeks MVB Pen Thieves

A month ago there were 20 sets, now there is one. That is the complaint of Dutchess County Clerk Frederic A. Smith, who has called upon authorities to help him catch the thieves.

Smith said he had placed 20 pen sets, attached to holders by light chains at counters in the office of the Motor Vehicle Bureau for the convenience of car owners applying for registration renewals.

The county clerk said he was "irritated and discouraged" over the thefts. Smith has informed Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan that he had intended to request a uniformed guard in the Motor Vehicle Bureau lobby, but because of the thefts of pens, he now feels that a plainclothesman would be better to try to catch the persons who have been helping themselves to the pens.

fta and 2,412 pounds of solids-not-fat in 365 days. She started her lactation at the age of five years and six months and was milked twice a day.

Solids-not-fats, the nutrients in milk below the cream line, are now being recorded in addition to milk and butterfat, as a part of the Holstein Association's Total Nutrient program. Registered Holstein breeders use this information as a management tool in herd improvement.

A registered Holstein cow owned by J. J. Houlihan & R. Peter Heffering, Millbrook, has completed a lactation exceeding 30,000 pounds of milk. She has also qualified for the select circle of national leaders on Dairy Herd Improvement registry test. Stella Orchard Grove Ormsby has completed the third highest official butterfat record made by a mature Holstein milked twice daily in the 365-day division of the DHIR program. Her official 365-day production totalled 30,896 pounds of milk and 1,498 pounds of butterfat. Starting her record at the age of eight years, she averaged more than 39 quarts of milk each day throughout her testing period. This is nearly four times that of the average dairy cow.

Rampant Vandalism to Mar Future of Town Memory Tree

Unnecessary and senseless vandalism threatens the future of one of Saugerties' traditional seasonal services, the Memory Tree. A spokesman for the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens said this week that the Tree may have to be discontinued in the future due to the wanton destruction of bulbs, hundreds of which have been broken and stolen by vandals. live in their plans for troop programs in the coming year.

Following the Leaders Club meeting, Mrs. Betty Moore conducted a workshop, where many new songs were taught, some of which will be included in the birthday program in March. Mrs. Moore, Brownie Troop consultant, also offered instruction in a square dance at the workshop.

Prior to the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Betty Hoffman and Troop Organizer Mrs. Helen Luley.

Scout Leaders Planning for '66

Holding a joint meeting last Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Dutch Alms Chapel, Saugerties, were the adult Scout leaders of Saugerties and the Saugerties Service Team. Mrs. Winnie Guess opened the session with the reading of two Christmas poems, and Mrs. Betty Hoffman, neighborhood chairman, announced that Mrs. Barbara Kolb will again head the Cookie Sale, beginning next February, as Saugerties Neighborhood Cookie Chairman. All troop leaders have been urged to appoint their own troop chairmen early.

Among community service projects being carried out by local troops during the holidays were the following:

Brownie Troop 53 went caroling and delivered a sunshine basket to an adopted family; Junior Troop 73 delivered two baskets to local stores and made donations of Christmas ornaments; Brownie Troop 185 filled stockings for senior citizens; Junior Troop 133 went caroling and decorated their church meeting room for the holidays; Cadette Troop 66 sponsored a Christmas party for their 26 adopted sisters in a younger age group at the Mother Cabrini School, and conducted a sing-along, for their invited guests, members and parents of Brownie Troop 45.

Junior Troop 23 has been making Christmas caroling calls to shut-ins, and Cadette Troop 104 participated in the decoration of a Christmas tree for their church.

At a Leaders Club meeting following last Wednesday's joint session, Mrs. Betty Hoffman, who had met earlier with the planning committee, announced that the theme for the 1966 birthday celebration program in March will be "A Tribute to Our Founder, Daisy Low." In keeping with this theme, three contests for the different age levels of scouting are planned, based on the aims and ideals of the Memorial World Friendship Fund to Daisy Low.

Leaders have been asked to include research of the founder's

Space Heater Fire

City firemen were called Sunday night to check a blaze caused by a defect in a gas-fed space heater in the home of Eleanor M. Quinn, 8 Webster Street. A call at 9:16 p. m., was followed by an alarm from Box 3531. Mary's Avenue and Andrew Street. The surge of flame, which damaged the heater, had been checked before firemen arrived. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Union, Cordts and Rapid companies responded with Deputy Chief Glyn M. Southard in charge.

Members of the League voted to hold regular meetings on the first and third Saturdays of each month at 7 p. m.

The local Luther League also recently played host to the Syracuse Luther League. This group, from St. John's Church in Syracuse, stopped overnight in West Camp on their way to a weekend in New York City. The local League welcomed the visitors with a party and refreshments and sent them on their way the following morning with souvenirs of St. Paul's 250th Anniversary.

Serving as hostesses for this function were Florence Burhans, Betty Knaut, Katherine Knaut, Louise Knaut, June Lewis and Kay Messersmith.

Living Nativity On Church Lawn

The Youth Fellowship of the Reformed Church of Saugerties will present a "Living Nativity" on the front lawn of the Church on Main Street, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Dec. 22 and 23.

This seasonal Nativity presentation will feature all the traditional characters normally portrayed in the Biblical account of the Nativity scenes, and living animals will be used in setting up the manger background. Plans call for two presentations each evening, one at 7 p. m. and another at 8 p. m.

The Nativity presentation is being arranged by the Youth Fellowship under the direction of their advisors, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jabs and Donald Reinhard, president. Music and narration for the performances have been arranged by Nancy Kelly and Donald Reinhard.

Members of the Youth Fellowship will portray the various characters in the Nativity scenes. Taking the roles of the Three Kings are Gary Wolven, John Van Wart and David Reinhard. The shepherds will be portrayed by David Carnright, David DeGroff and Kim Staples. Nancy Kelly and Donald Reinhard will recreate Mary and Joseph, and the appearance of the angels will be dramatized by Nancy Wolven, Cheryl Hine and Karen Hanson.

All residents of the Saugerties community are cordially invited to gather at the church lawn for any or all of these four presentations.

Woodstock Richard Bronson Retiring Shortly From Post Office

Woodstock Postmaster Leon Carey today announced the retirement of Assistant Postmaster Richard F. Bronson, a veteran of 32 years of government service. Bronson, whose face has become familiar to several generations of Woodstockers, will retire from his present position as of Dec. 30.

Respected and admired by patrons of the local post office and his fellow workers as an efficient and friendly postal employee, Bronson first came to Woodstock in 1921; has made his home in Zena since that time. Five years later, in 1926, he became interested in the postal service; took his first job with the Railway Mail Service. By 1935, he was working as a clerk in the main Woodstock post office.

Over the years, Bronson served under three Woodstock Postmasters, including William S. Elwyn, Howard Bell and Leon Carey.

During three decades, he received several well-earned promotions and saw many changes and expansions in the local office. With population increases, the Woodstock post office has grown from a fourth class office to a first class office and with each up-grading, he assumed new responsibilities. In 1957 Bronson took over some of the problems of management and became assistant to the Postmaster. By 1961, he was serving as assistant postmaster of Woodstock.

Both in U.S. Service

Both Bronson and his wife, Leitha, are veterans of World War I. Mrs. Bronson having served as a Yeomanette in the Navy.

Upon his retirement this month, Bronson and his wife plan to leave Woodstock by train sometime in January to tour the United States at their leisure. First stop will be a visit with son, Richard Bronson Jr. and his family in Springboro, Pa. Later, the couple will head south for warmer climes.

Wishing the Bronsons luck for the future, Postmaster Carey said this week that "Dick will be greatly missed, both by myself and the other employees in the Woodstock office."

New U. S. Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Gov. Matthew E. Welch of Indiana is the new chairman of the U.S. section of the International Joint Commission with Canada.

The 53-year-old Democrat, a lawyer now practicing in Indiana, was named to the post Saturday.

One Injured in Two Weekend City Mishaps

A driver was injured in one of two one-car city mishaps over the weekend and the other was cited for a violation.

Chester Rosa, 37, of 67 Hutton Street, suffered mouth and arm injuries when his car struck a tree on Flatbush Avenue near Elmendorf Street at 12:35 a. m. Sunday.

Police said he reported being forced into the tree by an oncoming car which went toward him at a high rate of speed. Officers Joseph Kivlan and Howard Kelly investigated.

Louis J. Sharotte, 22, of 2 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion, and Ira Hadsel investigated. Sharotte was fined $5 in city court today.

Grip of Terror Tightens Around So. Viet Capital

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong ranging from youthful saboteurs in Saigon to battle-hardened battalions in the countryside are tightening a noose of terror around Saigon.

The threat at present is mostly psychological. But a massive terror campaign may be near for the capital, which has escaped much of the brutality of the war despite repeated terrorist acts.

Expect No Big Push

No Viet Cong military attempt to seize the city is expected.

Government troops have been able to do little to clear the surrounding countryside. Some vital military installations and tactical areas are considered threatened. One such military area is almost within rifle shot of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division headquarters just north of Saigon.

Adding to the problem, rumblings of military discontent with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government have touched off a flurry of coup rumors. At such times anti-Communist operations often are disregarded in favor of political jockeying.

Rivalries between various intelligence agencies complicate the picture. Police sources say informers often fear being exposed by Viet Cong agents who have infiltrated into the government's version of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

High officials in Washington and Saigon have focused sharply on the recent campaign of terror in Saigon which began with the bombing Dec. 4 of the Metropole Hotel, a U.S. and Allied billet.

A series of incidents since led to a dusk-to-dawn curfew for U.S. servicemen in Saigon.

Concern is high now because the current terror campaign obviously is geared to the fifth anniversary today of the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

Inside the city are four known Viet Cong Commando units, the 65th, 67th, 158th and 159th. They probably total less than 300 persons.

The Commandos are not organized as military units. The members are parts of Communist cells and subcells and most are unknown to each other. Over-all plans are known only by a top handful. If one cell or group is compromised, the sabotage network does not collapse.

Fanning out of Saigon into Gia Dinh Province, also part of the capital military district, are perhaps five Viet Cong district organizations, some with military companies attached. These district organizations have a measure of autonomy and include many of the most dedicated Communists.

Recent intelligence reports indicate that two Viet Cong battalions also have moved into the area just south of Saigon.

It seems unlikely that the Viet Cong would try to take physical possession of the city since they do not have the military organization to back up such a move. Their hit-and-run tactics are expected to remain unchanged.

Former Resident Is Delegate to London Conclave

The daughter of a former local Methodist District Superintendent will be a youth delegate to the World Methodist Conference in London, England, Aug. 18-26.

Miss Mary E. Davies, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. D. George Davies of Trinity Methodist Church, Poughkeepsie, will be going to London with her father who is also a delegate to the same conference.

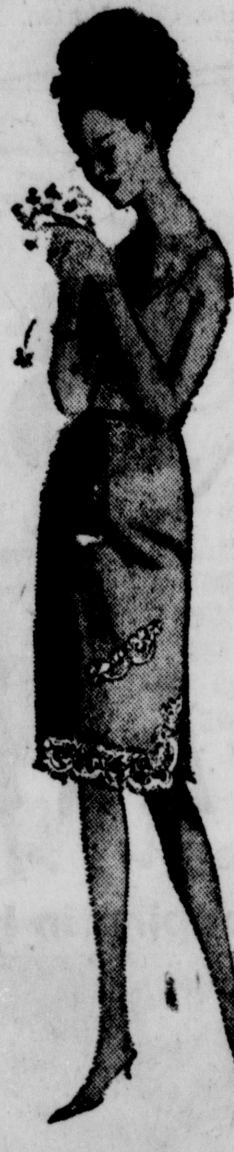

The Rev. Dr. Davies was superintendent of the Kingston District from 1952 to 1957 when he assumed the pastorate of the Poughkeepsie church.

Miss Davies, a freshman at Drew University, Madison, Wis., is the only youth delegate from the New York Area of the denomination. A 1965 graduate of Poughkeepsie High School, she served as president of the youth fellowship of Trinity church and worked with the conference program at Camp Epworth, High Falls. She also participated in youth programs at annual conference sessions.

John Hancock was the son of a clergyman.

Teeners Are Held In Smashing Auto Lights at Alleys

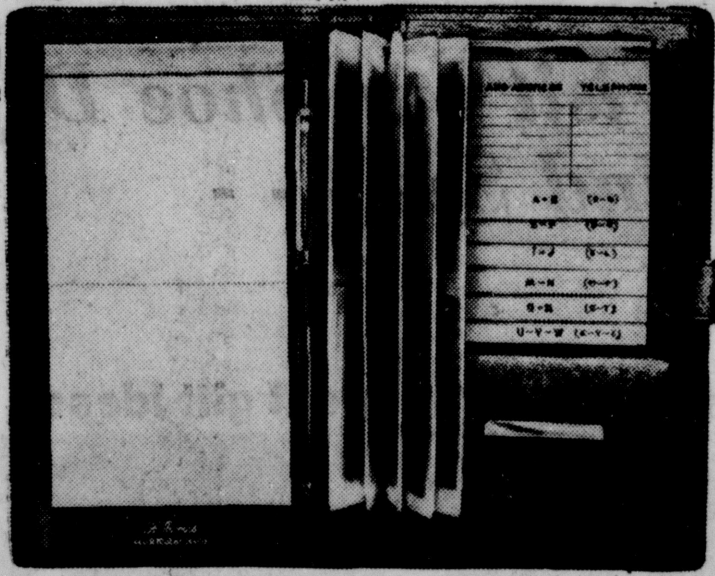

Accused of smashing the headlights and tail lights of a car parked near the College Lane Bowling Alleys at New Palz Sunday night, three teenagers were taken into custody by Highland State Police on charges of malicious mischief.

Trooper J. F. Czaplinski said the trio was booked as Thomas M. Decker, 18, of 48 Church Street; Daniel P. Mathews, 17, of 14 Mulberry Street and Edward J. Stokes, 18, of Box 18, all of New Palz.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Faltz, the three youths pleaded guilty and each was fined $25. The complaints were made by Anthony Puzolino, South Ohioville Road, New Palz, owner of the damaged car. Troopers Brian O'Connor and Jack Ostmark made the arrests.

Fined $20

Jan Peter Roeland Vel, 18, of 195 Main Street, arrested early Sunday on central Broadway on a disorderly conduct charge, was fined $20 and given a suspended sentence of 10 days in jail in city court today. MISS AMELIA D. NAREL

OCS Has Swiss Exchange Student

Local Catskill Mountain residents are enjoying a visitor from another mountain these days. She is Therese Mercerat of Bevilard, Switzerland, who comes to these parts by way of the American Field Service.

Therese is the Ontario Chapter's third foreign student to spend a year in the school district. She follows Sener Ozer of Turkey, and Elizabeth Steele of England. Her enthusiasm for the American Field Service Foreign Exchange Student Program is general, and the Ontario area in particular, matches that of her predecessors.

"Terrific!", says Therese of her temporarily-adopted family and friends here, and they say the same about her.

A small bundle of energy, with a lively personality, Therese is staying with the Harry Carles of Mt. Tremper. She is in the Senior Class of the Ontario Central School, where she attacks a maximum of curriculum with a minimum of English, having had only one year of our language before coming here. At first she translated her studies laboriously from English to French, and back to English again. After only three months, however, she has acquired a surprising working knowledge of English, and is beginning to feel almost as much at home in it as she does with the Carle family. Therese Mercerat gives the impression that there is very little she can't do if she sets her mind to it.

The Jura Mountains are home to her. These, Therese explains, are older than the Alps, and erosion has reduced them to a point where they are not very different from our mountains here. She is, however, reported to have exclaimed on her first view of the Catskills. "This is a mountain?" so the Jura range is probably considerably higher.

Life in Switzerland differs a good deal from the American scene in some respects, surprisingly little in others.

Therese is overwhelmed with the size of this country. A recent trip to Cape Cod took as long as the time required to cross all the way from France to Germany. Equally impressive to her are our shops, and the fact that people buy food to last more than one day. The Swiss, according to Therese, don't even have refrigerators, as they always buy fresh supplies daily.

Swiss Education

The Swiss educational program is different, in that the elementary period lasts nine years, at which point students move on to a further three-year program predicated on their individual choices of career. Some go into trade schools, working part-time in factories or other industries. Others, such as Therese, go into college preparatory schools. Education is free, except that students must pay for books during their academy school years. An increasing number of young people are going on to colleges, thanks to scholarships made available by the government.

Therese's school term begins shortly after Easter, so she will have lost part of two years as a result of her stay here. She hopes to make this up in time to be graduated with her regular class in Switzerland. The Swiss curriculum is more difficult than that in America, she thinks. Twelve subjects per school year are compulsory.

Therese also travels farther to reach her Swiss school, having a 45-minute train trip each way. On the other hand, she

Onteora Christmas Concert Set Dec. 16

The annual Onteora Central School Christmas concert Thursday, Dec. 16th, drew a full house. The sounds of Christmas were never more glorious or satisfying.

Under the direction of Mr. Wolf, the Junior High Orchestra played: Mozart Fantasia; Theme from Exodus; Snow Medley, a selection of Christmas tunes; and Twelve Days of Christmas.

Earl Proper directed the Junior High Chorus in: The Meaning of Christmas by Bizet; Jesus, Rest Your Head; a Bach selection; and Jingle Bells. Under the direction of Ronald Westervelt, the Junior High Band played: Silver Bells; O Holy Night; The Friendly Beasts; Coventry Carol; and 12 Days of Christmas.

The Senior portion of the concert was exceptionally good this year. Outstanding was the performance by the Senior Chorus under the direction of Mr. Proper. They sang: Pine Cones and Holly Berries by Meredith Wilson; The Ukrainian Carol of the Bells; a Motet, O Magnum Mysterium; and the Beethoven Alleluia.

Harry Simon, director of music at Onteora, directed the top-rated band in the following: Christmas Party; Sleighbells; Leroy Anderson; and Twas the Night Before Christmas, with Robert Cooper as narrator. Mrs. Jacqueline Friedman was at the piano.

notes a fact which will make local students green with envy. All Swiss schools have a week of skiing as part of the curriculum. Students go away in their respective class groups to stay in cabins at slopes in the Alps, or other mountains, where they ski each day almost from dawn to dark.

Therese is amazed at the spontaneous friendliness and hospitality of Americans. Swiss people, she says, are more formal, need more time to warm up to strangers. Theirs is virtually a tri-lingual nation. Individual cantons, comparable to our states, are French, German, or Italian.

French and German are interchangeable everywhere, and many Swiss speak Italian as well. Restaurants oblige everyone by printing menus in all three languages. Therese reports that the various groups get along well together. Perhaps this explains Switzerland's ability to maintain strict neutrality in world affairs.

Therese has come to this country with what she main aims is an open mind, and with what is obvious an open heart. She wishes to get to know our nation through Americans, and have Americans get to know Switzerland through her. This is, in effect, the basic purpose of the American Field Service Foreign Student Program, which promotes international understanding through junior ambassadors such as Therese. These exchange students exemplify a program of peace, and are striking examples of the potential which young people have to offer the world today. If they are all as charming as Therese Mercerat, it is not surprising that the American Field Service Program has enjoyed an admirable degree of success for many years. (William K. Wakefield).

Wage Violations Filed Last Month By Labor Board

Seventeen new civil actions were filed in November by the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contract Divisions, it was announced by Frank B. Mercurio, regional director.

In addition there were eight court actions concluded in November restraining employers from future violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

As a result of civil injunctive actions, the U. S. District Court, during last month, granted the U. S. Department of Labor court orders permanently enjoining many firms from violating the minimum or other provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

Listed in a report of the U. S. Department of Labor and the alleged violations were, New

The Fair Labor Standards Act, popularly known as the Federal Wage and Hour Law, applies to employees engaged in interstate commerce, or the production of goods for interstate commerce. These employees must be paid a rate not less than $1.25 an hour for hours worked. For hours worked in excess of 40 in any work week, employees must receive at least time and one-half of their regular rate of pay unless a specific exemption applies.

Detectives Probe Po'keepsie Fire

Two families including six children were rescued Sunday afternoon by firemen after they were reportedly trapped in their apartments by a two-alarm fire at 149 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, which is under investigation by city detectives.

Fire officials said the blaze started in a vacant second floor apartment and smoke filled the rooms and hallways of the three-story building in downtown Poughkeepsie. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stokes and their two children, and the Wilkes family including a mother and father and their four children, were rescued by firemen, who responded to the first alarm at 1:56 p. m. The second alarm at 2:01 p. m. calling out all city fire apparatus and off-duty firefighters.

Firemen under the direction of Chief Irving Merrick confined the fire damage to the second floor apartment where the blaze originated. Heavy smoke damage was reported in other parts of the building and water damage was reported in the street floor section of the structure, which also was vacant.

Police were asked by fire officials to investigate the origin of the fire.

True Love, Generosity in Aftermath of Fire

'Yes, Virginia' Is Especially Aware of Yule Spirit in 1965

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OLD CHATHAM, N.Y. (AP)—The Virginia whose childhood question about Santa Claus inspired a famous editorial 68 years ago is especially aware of the Christmas spirit this year.

Two months ago, 76-year-old Mrs. Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas experienced fright and sorrow as fire destroyed the century-old home of her daughter and son-in-law in nearby North Chatham.

Neighbors Help

Mrs. Douglas, who has been living with the daughter, Mrs. Robert Temple, fled into the night with Mrs. Temple and three of the Temples' children. They were sheltered at first by neighbors, then by relatives.

Finally, a couple offered the rental of a handsomely restored old farmhouse in this Upstate village.

"We have really experienced the spirit of that editorial," Mrs. Douglas told a reporter. "We know that love and generosity exists."

As an 8-year-old, Virginia O'Hanlon wrote a letter to the New York Sun asking whether there were really a Santa.

"Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus," she wrote. "Please tell me the truth."

The editorial reply, written by the late Francis P. Church, has had countless reprintings.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist...how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias."

After 43 years as a public-school teacher and principal in Brooklyn, Mrs. Douglas moved to North Chatham in 1959 live with her only daughter, Mrs. Temple, and her son-in-law.

Temple was away when a neighbor pounded on the door Oct. 27 to warn them that fire was starting from the upper part of the Temples' 2½-story home. The family was eating dinner. All escaped safely.

After taking shelter with neighbors, Mrs. Douglas and the Temples moved in temporarily with Mrs. Winifred Lee, mother-in-law of Mrs. Douglas's oldest granddaughter.

"She was wonderful," said Mrs. Douglas. "It seemed as though she expanded the walls of her house to fit us in."

Numerous neighbors offered assistance in resettling. Finally, Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Gleason, planning to winter in Mexico, made their home available. In previous years, they had turned down all rental requests.

Mrs. Douglas declined to pose for pictures in her temporary home, explaining that "the emotional upset has not left us completely."

A personal tragedy of the fire for Mrs. Douglas was that it destroyed her belongings that included many pictures and other mementoes she had planned to pass on to her grandchildren.

Was the "Yes, Virginia" letter lost?

"Actually," she replied, "I never did receive a letter from the paper. The answer to my letter was the editorial. And that certainly was answer enough, wasn't it?"

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

For those who like the tiny Christmas trees, why don't you consider going to a garden shop or nursery each year, and buying a real, live tree with a ball of soil on the bottom?

All you have to do is set this in your planter, or a big flower pot. You can be sure it won't die as cut trees do.

Later, you can plant the tree in your yard, and have something that will live on—for your money.

One of our friends just left hers in a planter by the door step all through the year, and when the next Christmas rolled around . . . she used it again! I think it would be kinda nice to look out into your yard, and know that three was bought in 1965. Then, you can recall all the good things that happened that Christmas day.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I buy dresses with the long loops to hold them on hangers, I cut the loops off 'til they are just two inches long, sew a snap on the ends, and they hold my shoulder straps in place. Sometimes I leave them long enough to tie, instead of sewing on snaps.

Mrs. Olsen

Dear Heloise:

Another use for old, clean socks:

While painting, I slip an old sock on my left hand (I'm right-handed), and wipe up spills as I go.

Saves stopping to look for the wipe up rag.

Mrs. Charles Johnson

Dear Heloise:

If you have a deep drawer in your stove, put a dishdrainer in it, and pot covers can be filed in this!

No trouble getting the covers in or out.

If there is no deep drawer in your stove, how about using a dishdrainer in the cupboard?

Edith Demby

Dear Heloise:

Try hanging small pictures on louvered folding doors, by using Christmas tree ornament hangers.

I have an eight-foot pantry with these doors, and a few pictures, plaques, etc., really made it a conversation place.

Kitty McLamb

And Kitty . . .

During the holidays you could use the hangers to decorate the louvered doors with Christmas cards.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Please rush the word to wives whose husbands are on night shift, to heat half a can of soup, and pour it into a thermos bottle before they go to bed.

Then, when tired hubby comes home from a hard, long day (anywhere from midnight to 4:00 a. m.) . . . he can pour himself a bowl of hot soup, for a just-right snack, before he goes to bed.

Dorothy Heter

Dear Heloise:

A pipe cleaner is perfect for cleaning the inside of the plastic or glass tubes used by patients for drinking.

Helen Lenz

Dear Heloise:

As I am one of those persons who does not like to wear shoes without hose, I find I need a large hose budget—which gets pretty expensive at times.

I solved this, in part, by utilizing those hose with runs, mended spots, holes in mesh hose, etc., by tying together those so damaged. Then, at a glance, I can select them to wear with slacks, and leave the better ones for skirts.

Loa B. Baldwin

Dear Heloise:

I bored holes through the ends of two clip-type clothespins, knotted a string through each hole, and hung the string over a towel rack.

The pins make an ideal place for drying rubber gloves.

List Committee For Revamping N. Y. Constitution

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A state constitutional convention was a step closer to reality today following the announcement of the names of an 18-member committee to prepare for the convention.

Gov. Rockefeller, Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki, and Assembly Speaker Anthony Travia Sunday each named six persons to the committee, which will draft plans for the April 1967 convention.

The 1965 Legislature authorized the appointments.

New York State voters approved the convention in the state election last November.

Appointed by Rockefeller, a Republican:

Dr. Henry Head, president of the Ford Foundation; Frank C. Moe, former lieutenant governor; Dr. William J. Roman, the governor's secretary and chairman of the Metropolitan Commuter Transit Authority; Sol Neil Corbin, former counsel to Rockefeller, Mayor Daniel Reidy of Ardsley, and Dean William H. Mulligan of Fordham University Law School.

Named by Zaretzki, a Democrat:

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, Prof. Kenneth Clark of City College, Dean Daniel Gutman of New York University Law School, Prof. Alan Campbell of Syracuse University, and New York City lawyers William van de Heuvel and Albert A. Blinder.

Named by Travia, also a Democrat:

Judge Francis Bergen of the Court of Appeals; Burke Marshall, former assistant U.S. attorney general; William J. Heron, a lawyer from Malone; Dean Harold F. McNeice of St. John's Law School and vice chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee to Implement

Dear Abby . . .

It's Possible, Lady!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why do most men prefer to buy their own clothes, no matter how poor their taste is, rather than let their wives go shopping with them? I know very few men whose wives couldn't dress them better than they dress themselves. Most men know nothing about style. They come out of the store with something just like what they were in. You have to look close to see if they're wearing their new blue suit or their old one. You should write a whole column on how the well-dressed man should dress.

SICK OF SLOBS
DEAR SICK: I don't have to write a column on how men should dress. Any man who wants to be well-dressed needs only to walk into a first-class men's clothing store and ask one of the salesmen for guidance. Men who sell men's clothing are among the best-dressed men in the country. They make an honest effort to sell the customer what is right for him. And only if they fail, will they let him buy what he wants, regardless.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this soon as it is very important to me. There is this real cute boy at school and I like him very much, but he doesn't like me. This girl has a big mouth, terrible personality and she's a big show-off, but she's good-looking and that's why she's popular. This isn't just my opinion. Lots of kids agree with me. I am not cute, but I am not ugly, either. This boy is going to ask this girl to go steady. I told him he is making a big mistake and he said that was for HIM to decide. What can I do to get him?

LIKES HIM
DEAR ABBY: Nothing. No boy likes to be told whom to like, and any coaching from the sidelines will only make him more determined.

City Group Attends UJ Appeal Sessions

Nineteen Kingstonians were among the large audience who paid homage to the three great military leaders who led Allied troops into Europe and delivered millions of enslaved peoples from bondage, at the 28th Annual National Conference banquet of the United Jewish Appeal last weekend at the New York Hilton Hotel.

Accepting gold medals commemorating the twentieth anniversary of V-E Day were Field Marshal Earl Alexander of Tunis (Great Britain), General Pierre Koenig (Free French Forces), and General Lucius D. Clay representing General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower who is still confined to a Washington hospital. Both Field Marshal Alexander and General Koenig made a flying visit to General Eisenhower's bedside last Saturday afternoon to pay their respects to their wartime leader and commander-in-chief prior to the ceremonies at the U. J. A. Conference in New York City.

Representing the Kingston Jewish Community Council at the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ronder; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Berger; Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Propp; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Siskind; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rose; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Klein; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klein;

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who is seven years old and Abby, she is about the slowest eater I have ever seen. It took her 45 minutes to eat a bowl of cereal this morning. She has always been a slow eater, and nothing can make her eat faster. I don't know if we should try to get her to eat faster or not. Can you advise me?

MRS. C.
DEAR MRS. C.: Forty-five minutes is far too long to sit over a bowl of cereal. She's not "eating"—she dawdling. These are the years children form their habits, so give her a certain amount of time (like 15 minutes) in which to eat her cereal, and then remove the bowl. Full or empty, she has trained YOU to accept her jiddling around. Change her tune, and train HER to get on with the business of eating at mealtime.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "C. M. IN CORONA, CALIF.": You will never win the boy's "love" by buying him presents. Just behave so that when people tell him he's just like his father, he'll stick out his chest instead of his tongue.

'Outmate' Bill Is Pre-Filed by Senator Pomeroy

A bill which would allow persons serving jail terms for a year or less to leave jail daily to work, receive necessary medical treatment or further their education, has been pre-filed by State Senator R. Watson Pomeroy of Millbrook, who represents the 44th Senatorial District.

Pomeroy, a Republican, said he is aware the "outmate" bill will be opposed by some people in the district and other legislators in Albany.

The Dutchess County senator said he is seeking an assemblyman to co-sponsor the bill.

"I think that in certain instances," Pomeroy said, "persons should be able to repay the county or the state for the cost of being kept in prison, or a county jail or county farm. By holding a job, these people also can help to support their families, relieving some of the burden on the county taxpayers."

Contending that most of the opposition to the bill probably would come from people who believe that offenders of the law should be imprisoned, Pomeroy said, "I don't think that a person who is kept away from his family, and is kept working each day, then returns to jail at night could be enjoying himself much."

Seize Dutchess Escapee in Troy

A 28-year-old prisoner, who escaped from the Dutchess County jail Saturday after ripping off a wall ventilator-heater unit in the jail chapel, was captured Sunday by Rensselaer county deputy sheriff near Troy.

James Walter Fallon, 28, of Elizaville, was returned to the jail in Poughkeepsie last night. Authorities said he will face charges of escaping from custody.

Serving a four-month jail term on a conviction for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, Fallon was seen at the noon meal on Saturday. Sometime between that time and the jail bed check of prisoners at 7 p. m., he went from the jail clothing room into the jail chapel in the cellar of the institution and worked himself outside the jail's barred section.

A guard discovered the prisoner missing at the 7 p. m. bed check and he sounded an alarm. Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan directed a search of the jail but found no trace of the inmate. A 13-state alarm was flashed and roadblocks were set up throughout the area.

Authorities believe Fallon first headed south and then backtracked and started his unsuccessful dash for freedom northward.

While the search was underway, the sheriff's office received word that a truck had been stolen north of Poughkeepsie, and an alarm with the description of the vehicle was sent out on the teletype.

Sheriff Quinlan said Fallon was convicted last month on a charge of taking without permission a car owned by Mary J. Babiarz, 28 Clark Street, Poughkeepsie. He was selected as a trusty because he was a local resident and had no viciousness in his prior conduct and was willing to work.

Fallon has a criminal record dating back to 1953 including burglary and larceny convictions, and had served time in Green Haven Prison, Wallkill Prison and county jails in the Hudson Valley.

On Nov. 18, 1964, two prisoners escaped from the Dutchess jail after forcing the door of their cell. Michael Burns, 19, Town of Poughkeepsie, was apprehended within hours of his escape. George Hastings, 20, Town of LaGrange, was later taken into custody in Florida.

Report Several Ulster Landing Area Burglaries

Several burglaries in the Ulster Landing area of the Town of Ulster are under investigation by the Sheriff's Department. All were in the Yale Camp area.

At the camp of Herman Roosa, 23 Amsterdam Avenue, city, a water pump valued at $75 was taken. The trailer of Mrs. Pearl Renn of 22 Andrew Street, city, was also entered and articles valued at over $50 were taken. Included among the articles taken were electrical appliances.

At the Werner camp, owned by Joseph Werner of 278 Albany Avenue, a toaster valued at $18 was reported missing and at the Scott Prendergast camp of Lake Katrine, an electric heater valued at $35 was taken. In several of the camps a number of electrical articles, including blankets were reported missing.

The investigation was commended by Deputy Sheriff Jerry Vorisek and is being continued by County Investigator Thomas F. Mayone.

Differ with GOP Charge on Reason Crime Is Zooming

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of some of the nation's largest cities disagreed today with a Republican charge that zooming crime rates can be traced to a surrender to criminals by big-city political machines.

A panel of top Republicans, in a report issued Sunday night in Washington, said municipal leaders "have, in effect, confessed that criminals, not the police, lawlessness, not the law, are in control."

Claims Opposite

"Insofar as surrendering to the criminal is concerned, we've done the opposite," said a spokesman for Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit, a political independent.

"Obviously, New York is not one of the cities they have in mind," said a spokesman for Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a Democrat who will be succeeded by a Republican Jan. 1.

Those comments were typical of the reaction of officials in big cities across the country—that the Republicans must have had some city in mind other than their own. The Republican panel named no cities in the report.

The report, prepared by a coordinating committee task force headed by Robert Taft Jr., a former Ohio congressman, said in part:

Advised to Stay Away

"There are sectors in most of our large cities where crime is so rampant that citizens are advised to stay away. Administrators in some cities have really ceased to make an adequate effort to prevent crime in these sectors."

"Urban local government has become so large, party machinery so cumbersome federal and state controls so confusing that many people feel that their governments are no longer related to them."

"We suggest that some of the present difficulties are related to the development of large urban political machines. Citizens feel no sense of loyalty to governments dominated by such machines."

Minor Wilson, chief administrative aide to Police Supt. Orlando W. Wilson of Chicago, said: "It seems hard for me to believe that they really arrived at that conclusion. It seems almost absurd."

Chicago Acts

"The essence of Supt. Wilson's reorganization of the Chicago police force was to effect more centralized control of police operations. Before that time the police had been district controlled. The situation was not good."

The spokesman for Detroit Mayor Cavanagh said the city has no political machine because of its nonpartisan government. In fighting crime, he said the city has increased police salaries 26 per cent over the past four years, provided other incentives to the police and supports the force in all possible respects.

In Boston, Mayor John F. Collins, Democrat, said: "I have to disagree as far as Boston is concerned. Far from surrendering, we have accelerated our drive against organized crime."

A spokesman for Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles said there are no areas in Los Angeles where citizens are advised to stay away because of lawlessness. He said the city is doing the best job possible with 5,000 policemen in a city of 459 square miles.

A spokesman for Mayor John F. Shelley of San Francisco, a Democrat, pointed out that the city's charter makes its offices nonpartisan.

"With our form of city government here, with the mayor working with a board of supervisors, representing both parties, I don't think the statement applies to us," he said.

Nearly 71 per cent of the land in Ohio is devoted to agriculture.

Woman Will Be 107 on Thursday, Looking to 200

CENTRAL SQUARE, N.Y. (AP)—"I'm looking forward to my 107th birthday," says Mrs. Ione Fitch, who will be 107 Tuesday.

Mrs. Fitch, originally from Green Lake, Wis., made that observation Sunday as she sprightly greeted visitors to a surprise party at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Joseph Burdick, near this village north of Syracuse.

"This is the best birthday party and surprise I ever had," she said.

FOSTER HOME CHILDREN NOT FORGOTTEN—Pictured above with some of the Christmas gifts which will be distributed to children in foster homes in Ulster County are Miss Penelope Plass, case worker, Child Welfare; Mrs. Elizabeth Russell, child welfare consultant, New York State Department of Social Welfare; Mrs. Edna Branigan, president of VFW Auxiliary of New Paltz; Joseph Fitzsimmons, commissioner, Ulster County Department of Public Welfare; Mrs. Maureen Gray, supervisor, Child Welfare Division; Max Waldeger, area director, New York State Department Social Welfare. There are over 300 children placed in foster homes in Ulster county. The Child Welfare Division of the Ulster County Department of Public Welfare assumes financial responsibility as allocated by statute for the food, clothing and medical needs of these children. However, providing Christmas gifts for the children is a complex and costly project and since public funds cannot be used, the Welfare Department depends upon the generosity of individuals and groups. The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary of New Paltz has for many years collected funds and new toys for this worthy cause.

Christmas Books At City Library

You don't have to look at the calendar to know when Christmas is approaching at the Kingston Library. Book requests, reference questions, film orders and use of the reading rooms all tell when that time of the year has arrived.

Some people start their Christmas shopping at the library using the Consumers Bulletin and Consumers Report to learn the best rated appliances, furnishings and equipment. Both of these publications provide impartial reports on all variety of products after testing by their own experts.

Parents Show Interest
Recommendations of books for Christmas gifts is another frequent request, and the staff is ready to provide bibliographies of books on that special subject or interest the Christmas shopper is seeking. This year a number of parents have stopped in at the library seeking advice on good reference books to give their son or daughter who is either already in college, or about to enter.

Reference questions tell the season, and by now the Reference Librarian knows by heart the "Twelve Days of Christmas," the names of Santa's reindeer, the words to "Twas the Night Before Christmas," what reindeer eat, and whether Santa Claus will come to Kingston if there's no snow on the ground (he will).

Films for Parties
Christmas films for children's parties have been booked solid for months, and if groups want the Library to obtain films for them on Christmas during the Christmas season, the best suggestion is to place the orders during the summer. Some organizations have already selected films for next Christmas.

Surprisingly, the reference and reading rooms have their greatest usage during the holidays. It all results from the homework assignments students receive before vacation, and perhaps the normal tendency of some youngsters to put off preparing term papers until the last possible moment.

Whatever the cause, the Library staff know as sure as New Year's follows Christmas, the Library will be a busy place during the holiday season. The Library will be closed Friday, Dec. 24, at noon, and all day Saturday, Dec. 25, for the Christmas holiday. Friday, Dec. 31, the Library will close at noon, as well as all day Saturday, Jan. 1, for New Year's. Other than those holiday closings, the Li-

Viet Yule Mail Becomes Mess When Jar of Pigs Feet Breaks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In the mass of mail pouring in from the states to the U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam was this three-gallon glass jar of pickled pigs feet.

To the two men who shoulder the daily responsibility of getting the mail through to the soldiers, this ordinarily would be no problem.

But let one of them, M. Sgt. James V. Adams of Penfield, Ill., tell what happened.

Glass Jar Broke
"The glass jar broke and there was a real mess. It took us some time to pick out the broken glass and sort out the sodden letters from the big metal container we use for the mail."

The other man responsible for the mail getting through is Capt. Gerald C. Aker of Bellevue, Wash., a former Air Force navigator and onetime teacher.

The Aker-Adams team directs the handling of about 270,000 pounds of mail daily at the aerial mail terminal at Saigon's airport. About 30,000 pounds make up the letters and packages being sent back home.

The other 12 tons is mail addressed to U.S. troops on duty in South Viet Nam.

Handle 50,000 Pounds
Three months ago the daily volume of service mail handled here was about 50,000 pounds, says Adams, the noncommissioned officer in charge of the aerial mail terminal.

Aker, 32, is a veteran who served in the Pacific as a navigator for the Military Air Transport Service. He took time out for schooling and teaching, but the Cuban crisis in October, 1962, called him back into service.

He now plans to make the service his career. The leopard tattooed on his right arm tells of a hitch in the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Problems? To keep the soldiers' mail moving so there will be no undue delay.

"We never allow the mail to pile up here," Aker says. "Now with the Christmas crush on, we have to make an extra effort to get the mail on its way."

Mails Get Priority
"Every now and then a military situation will have priority on all military aircraft, but the maile planes are available, we start the mails moving. Our aim is to let no letter or parcel remain on our hands for more than 24 hours."

In almost all normal cases, Aker says, the mail moves out the day it comes in.

Other problems? "I turn them over to Sgt. Adams," Aker says. "That man is tops in getting the soldier's mail moved."

"Too many men over here are sending fresh fruit and vegetables home by mail," Adams said. "They get crushed and they spoil. They are rough on the mail. Most of it just can't get through."

Few letters and parcels are not delivered — less than about one-half of one per cent, Adams estimates. Insufficient address is the main reason; troop movements are the next.

Working under Aker and Adams is a staff of 17 U.S. military personnel and 25 Vietnamese.

Sign Wednesday For Purchase of L. I. Railroad

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A contract will be signed Wednesday for purchase of the Long Island Railroad from the Pennsylvania Railroad by New York State's Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority for $65 million.

Gov. Rockefeller announced the date Monday but said the final closing of the transaction was not scheduled until Jan. 20, 1966. The authority will pay an initial $10 million Wednesday and complete the payment Jan. 20 if the Interstate Commerce Commission has approved the sale.

The legislature appropriated the money after a special committee appointed by Rockefeller recommended creation of the authority to operate and modernize the Long Island.

The contract will be signed in New York City.

Astronaut Lovell Was Eagle Scout

Astronaut James A. Lovell, co-pilot of Gemini spacecraft, was the first former Eagle Scout among the astronaut team to "soar" into orbit.

Beginning his Scouting as a Cub Scout in 1938, Cmdr. Lovell achieved Scouting's highest rank of Eagle Scout as a member of Troop 60 in Milwaukee, Wis., in 1943. This was followed by the Bronze Palm Award in 1944 and the Gold Palm Award in 1945 when he was Junior Assistant Scoutmaster. Lovell was also a member of the Order of the Arrow, the Scout honor camping society and of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity of former Scouts and leaders.

Lovell's teammate on the GT-7, Frank Borman, was a Scout in Tucson, Ariz.

Both pilots of the Gemini 6 were also Scouts. Walter M. Schirra, Jr. was a First Class Scout in Troop 10, Oradell, N.J. Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford was a Cub Scout for three years.

then a Boy Scout for four years, achieving the rank of Star Scout in Troop 355, Weatherford, Okla.

Of the first 30 astronauts named, 27 have Scouting backgrounds. Those reaching the Eagle rank besides Lovell are Neil A. Armstrong, Roger B. Chaffee, Donn F. Eisele, and Elliott M. See, Jr.

In commenting on his Scouting, Astronaut Lovell said, "I owe much of my present career to the training I had as a Boy Scout. It was through Scouting that I first learned self-reliance, leadership, and the many fine attributes that Scouting has to offer."

DON'T STAY OVERLONG

When you are paying a formal visit, the important rules are: Don't outstay other visitors who arrive after you, or one who may have come before you but who is plainly an intimate friend in whose news the hostess seems interested. In such a situation the rule of safety is to leave after ten minutes.

Do not, however, fidget and talk about leaving. Sit down as though your leaving immediately were not on your mind but after a little while stand up and say "Good-by" and go.

Never make remarks such as "I'm afraid I have overstayed my welcome" or "I must apologize for running off" or "I'm afraid I have bored you to death talking so much." All such expressions are self-conscious and stupid. If you really think you are staying too long or leaving too soon or talking too much—don't!

Above all don't keep your hostess standing while you make parting remarks for half an hour! Having risen to go, go!

Leaving Additional Tip

Q: Every so often a woman I used to work with will call and invite me to have lunch with her. She always takes me to expensive restaurants. The high prices don't seem to bother her a bit but when it comes to tipping, she is very meager. It embarrasses me terribly because I am inclined to be over-generous when the service is good. Could I possibly leave my own tip without belittling her?

A: Leaving an extra tip would be very belittling and rude to your hostess.

Dress for Debutante Tea

Q: At an afternoon debutante tea what type of clothes does the debutante and her mother wear? Do they wear hats?

A: At an afternoon tea the debutante wears a cocktail dress and her mother wears an afternoon dress. Both wear gloves, and neither wears a hat.

Party Appetizers Are Easy to Prepare

During the festive holiday season, most hostesses want to present their guests with appetizers more imaginative than a bowl of potato chips or a wedge of cheese. Thanks to the great variety of frozen heat-an-serve hors d'oeuvres and frozen cold canapés, even novice cooks can duplicate the efforts of famous chefs and caterers.

To choose from, there is a wide range of puff pastry hors d'oeuvres—the kind that used to be extremely painstaking and expensive to prepare. Now this difficult pastry comes already mixed, rolled, folded, rested seven times and shaped to form puffs, pockets, turnovers, twists, whirls and blankets. The fillings include anchovy, cheese, lobster, smoked salmon, chicken, crab meat and frank.

Or, if your preference is for cold canapés, these also are available in tremendous variety, offering one of the newest and most exciting developments in the frozen food industry. The canapés are packed in assortments of tasty, tempting tidbits that come in squares, triangles, diamonds, rounds and layers. They are filled with meat, fish and cheese mixtures or pumpernickel and other bread bases. The tops are finished with a cold sauce, aspic, a truffle, a pimiento strip or other garnish to add to their good flavor and taste appeal.

Somewhat more elaborate, but especially festive and well worth the effort is the following Christmas Pate based on frozen chicken livers. Presented as the recipe suggests with six small mold surrounding one large mold and decorated with a wreath of green olive slices and pimiento stars, it makes a dramatic as delicious party offering.

CHRISTMAS PATE

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine
1 medium onion chopped
2 packages (8 ounces each) frozen chicken livers, thawed
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup dry sherry
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
4 1/2 cups chicken broth (made with chicken bouillon cubes)
1/4 cup brandy
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese Pimiento
Sliced stuffed olives
Melt butter; add onions and saute until tender. Add chicken livers, salt, pepper and 1/4 cup sherry. Cook until livers turn brown (about 5 minutes). Add gelatin to 1 cup of chicken broth. Let stand 5 minutes, then cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves. Stir in remaining chicken broth and sherry. Press liver mixture through a sieve or food mill, or whirl in a blender. Whip cream cheese with brandy until fluffy; gradually blend in liver mixture. Using a star shaped cutter, cut stars from pimiento and place one in bottom of each of six individual 1/2-cup molds. Place a ring of stuffed olive slices in bottom of 3-cup ring mold. Spoon a layer of gelatin mixture over designs (about 2 tablespoons over each small mold and 1/2 cup for ring mold) and chill until firm, setting molds on crushed ice to inch square pan. Chill all night, speed chilling, if desired. Beat 1 cup of the gelatin mixture into the liver mixture, then spoon into individual and ring molds, filling them completely. Pour remaining gelatin into an 8-inch square pan. Chill all until firm. To serve, unmold onto center of a large round serving plate and surround with small molds. Cut gelatin in square pan into 1/2-inch cubes and scatter between molds. Garnish with parsley sprigs. Accompany with melba toast or freshly-made toast strips.

Makes 1 3-cup ring mold and 6 1/2-cup individual molds, or 1 6-cup ring mold.

B-S Gala Christmas Dance on Dec. 30th

Co-chairmen William McDermott and Margaret Hazenbush have announced that plans have been completed for this year's annual Bachelor-Spinster Christmas dance on Thursday evening, Dec. 30th in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel, this city. Dancing will be to the music of the Impacts and will begin at 9 p. m.

The Bachelor-Spinster Dance holds a unique tradition in the Kingston area in that for more than 30 years it has provided a chance for young, unmarried couples to meet for an enjoyable evening of dancing. The dance is sponsored by a group of young men and women of this area. Although in recent years the dance has been frequented by younger couples, there is actually no maximum age limit provided one can stand the music of the "beat generation." The dance is semi-formal, and tickets may be obtained from committee members William McDermott, Margaret Hazenbush, Robert Ploss, Betsy Cooke, Diane Davis, Steven Leeds, or William Cloonan. Tickets will also be available at the door the night of the dance.

CHRISTMAS AROUND THE WORLD

Skiing down a mountain with a lighted torch in your hand... strewing hay on the floor of your home... knocking on neighbors' doors in a symbolic pilgrimage — these are some of the ways you might find yourself celebrating Christmas in other parts of the world.

In token of Christ's birth in a manger, Poles and Lithuanians have straw under the tablecloth at their festive Christmas Eve meal. The colorful Mexican posada or pilgrimage dramatizes the search which led Mary and Joseph to the stable. For each of the nine nights before Christmas, a couple dressed as Mary and Joseph goes from house to house. Only at the last house are they — and the parade of neighbors which is now following them — invited in for supper.

An even more novel procession may be seen in the mountains of Austria. According to researchers for the House of 4711, who have been collecting material on foreign Christmases, wood carvers in the little town of Oberammergau meet on Christmas Eve and ski down the mountain slopes with flaming torches in their hands, singing as they go!

Just about every country which celebrates Christmas has its unique bit of seasonal folklore or ritual. In Sweden, it's the feast of St. Lucia on December 13, ushering in the Christmas season. Each community chooses a lovely Lucia Queen to represent the young girl martyred for her religion centuries before in ancient Rome. In families with daughters, the prettiest plays the role of Lucia. Her "privilege": to wait on everyone else for the day!

But even the standard holiday features — Christmas dinner, Christmas presents and Yuletide decorations — have picturesque local variation. Not only does Santa have numerous aliases (he's Julenissen in Denmark, Pere Noel in France, the Abbot of Unreason in Scotland), but in Italy he is a she. Italian kids place their trust in Befana, and old woman on a broomstick who brings gifts to good children and ashes to bad ones. (In older versions of the legend, she ate the juvenile delinquents.)

While waiting for Befana to come across on January 6, Italian kids and their elders draw small gifts on Christmas Eve from a jar called "the urn of fate." And leave it to the systematic British to establish December 26 as Boxing Day. On this pugilistic-sounding occasion, servants and tradespeople are remembered with boxes of money!

The date of the big Christmas dinner also varies around the world; many countries have it on Christmas Eve, before or after midnight services. Our traditional Christmas turkey does not appear on many menus. The French reveillon, a feast which occurs after midnight mass, is apt to feature oysters and sausages; in the French province of Brittany, buckwheat cakes with sour cream are served. The Norwegian Christmas dinner features a fish called lutsk. At a Polish-Christmas Eve dinner, the number of courses is fixed at seven, nine or eleven; a Lithuanian Christmas feast must include twelve courses, one for each of the twelve disciples!

During the Christmas season, Germans and Rumanians bake long, thin cakes that symbolize the Christ Child wrapped in swaddling clothes. In the Ukrainian part of Russia, cattle are given the first taste of the Christmas supper, because animals were the first to behold Christ. In parts of rural Germany, this is carried one step further — cattle and their owners both fast the day before Christmas, and eat well on Christmas Eve!

"Deck the hall with boughs of holly" is a traditional refrain in English and American homes, but in Spain and Italy, house-holders decorate with flowers instead of evergreens at Christmas time. The Christmas tree, popular throughout the United States and Northern Europe, is relatively rare in Southern Europe; the creche, or manger scene, usually replaces it. In Sicily, many families use Christmas trees, but they decorate them with apples and oranges instead of tinsel! This carries out an old tradition that all the trees bore fruit when Christ was born.

In England and France, the Yule log is favored; in some districts of England, whole families go to the forest to select their Yule log. Pear, olive and applewood are considered best, and tradition says that the log must be large enough to last until New Year's Day.

Perhaps the most unusual Christmas tradition of all is the one still adhered to by some Swiss romantics. These folk advise a boy or a girl to visit nine different fountains and take three sips from each at the time the bells are ringing for midnight services on Christmas Eve. After this odd rite has been completed, the future husband or wife will be found standing at the door of the church and a regular courtship will begin — if the spell has worked.

Us, we'll take mistletoe.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Dec. 20, the 354th day of 1965. There are 11 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1803, a crowd filled what is now Jackson Square in New Orleans as the Tri-color of France was lowered and the Stars and Stripes rose in its place. The French turned over control under terms of the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1790, the first successful cotton mill in America was opened at Pawtucket, Rhode Island.

In 1860, South Carolina seceded from the Union, the first state to do so.

In 1922, Russian republics combined as the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

In 1941, Adm. Ernest King was named commander in chief of the U.S. fleet.

In 1943, U.S. B29 planes bombed the German city of Bremen.

Five years ago — Israeli Ambassador Abraham Harman told Secretary of State Christian Herter that reports Israel was developing atomic bombs were untrue.

One year ago — A large number of political leaders were arrested as South Viet Nam military men took control of the government.

Open 23-Mile Stretch

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Drivers in Central New York will get a belated Christmas gift next week when an additional 23 miles—in five separate sections—of the North-South Expressway in Cortland and Onondaga counties opens to traffic.

Gov. Rockefeller said Saturday that specific opening dates would depend on the completion of work to erect signs and guide rails.

The $26.1-million stretch extends between Route 41 in Cortland County and a point 3.37 miles north of Syracuse.

The Langlois Globe, made in France in 1824, measures 128 feet in diameter.

Health for All

Where the Money Goes

Sickness of breathing have always loomed big in the scale of human woes. During the last decade or so, a number of these diseases seem to have made headway at a disturbing rate.

Whatever the basic reasons (increasing pollution of the air and a long-time rise in cigarette smoking are usually cited among them), some of these respiratory ills now take a toll that would have seemed unlikely just a few years ago. In the last recorded year (1963) deaths from chronic bronchitis totaled 3,430, compared to 1,804 in 1958 — an increase of 90 per cent. Even higher was the increase in reported victims of emphysema over the same period — from 6,707 to 15,120 or a jump of 125 per cent.

About the turn of the century, when a concerted nationwide fight was first mounted against tuberculosis, that scourge was the top disease killer in the country. Nobody imagined that in six decades TB would be reduced to a point where its final eradication could be discussed in realistic terms.

With the weapons now at our command, it isn't too much to hope that the process can be repeated with other forms of respiratory disease (RD). But these things don't just happen. Tremendous struggles are in store for those who attempt them. They need public support, they need the willing hands and hearts of volunteers on which so much of this kind of effort depends. And they must have the money to pay for needed materials and services of all kinds.

Your Christmas Seal association, which fights all respiratory diseases including TB, is pinning major hopes on the success of its 1965 Christmas Seal Campaign. A good response will mean that its fight against diseases of breathing can go on undiminished. Now is the time to answer your Christmas Seal appeal.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., 124 Green Street.

Diamonds for Cross

LONDON (AP)—The processional cross of Westminster is being further embellished by John Wanamaker, a descendant of Rodman Wanamaker, the American donor, in honor of the Abbey's 900th anniversary celebrations which open Dec. 28. The cross is of gold, silver-gilt and ivory studded with sapphires. Now it will be further adorned by an anniversary gift of 72 diamonds.

Investor Forum

FRUITS OF INFLATION

A conservative retired executive in his late sixties has just received notice that the rent administrator has granted his landlord a 15 per cent increase—$37.50 a month.

And at the same time, his cook (faithful and efficient for 18 years) is demanding a $50 a month increase in wages starting January 1, 1966. On top of all this, on the front page of his morning newspaper, are two discouraging items. New York City is in a local crisis and a city income tax will probably soon be enacted, and the cost of living index has moved up again.

Thus, he can see that starting in 1966, he will have to "spend" a month more if he is to maintain his present standard of living.

He has $50,000 in savings banks earnings 4 1/2 per cent a year. How can he get $400 a year more out of that fund without using up capital?

Well, the only way to achieve this goal is to start speculating, which is foreign to his nature. But economic necessity being what it is, he is inclined to take risks in the stock market.

This problem is universal in America. Those involved in it are often forced to lower living standards or to buy under-priced values for profit.

The fruits of inflation invade millions of homes in America. During my 35 years as a money manager, I have never experienced such times as we are having today.

Unsound speculation in "romance" common stocks is now going on, promulgated by those who think they can make profits by buying and selling stocks.

Investors are dangerously becoming speculators. And this habit is becoming a disease. There are not enough investment counselors in America to properly handle this disease.

Two weeks ago, the person mentioned earlier in this article, withdrew $25,000 from banks and opened a margin account. It is a sign of the times. Wage and rent increases, higher living costs and taxes, do take their toll.

Chickens always come home to roost. As a former Schoharie County farm boy who took care of 200 chickens, I can eloquently attest to the truth of this statement.

In 1965, we are reaping the harvest of the inflation that began in 1933. America went off the gold standard. A new economic philosophy out of Washington—"We will vote and tax and spend"—came into being.

Unbalanced budgets became the rule and not the exception. The Second World War, costing $250,000,000 a day, descended upon our great country and we borrowed $150,000,000 to finance it.

And now, year after year, unbalanced budgets in Washington have become a natural event. Yes, people are speculating in the market in an attempt to protect the buying power of their money.

THE FORUM

(Q) "I want to speculate with $10,000. How should I do so?"

M. S. (A) Well, seek out a good broker with long and competent service.

Mr. France has written a complete investment handbook: DOLLARS THAT GROW. For your copy, send $1.00 (no stamps) to Mr. Harry France, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 2492, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y. (T-M WRR Gen. Fes Corp.)

Students Heckled Protesting War

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Forty-five students at the State University at Buffalo experienced some heckling but no violence during their three-day fast protesting the Viet Nam war, a spokesman for the group said.

The students, members of the university chapter of Students for a Democratic Society, started their fast Thursday and ended it Saturday. They slept outdoors on campus in sleeping bags despite cold weather and snow flurries.

The campus security forces asked the hecklers to leave and they did so quietly, the spokesman said.

Bishop's Picture

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—Liverpool news cameramen recently got the kind of picture they usually only dream about—the Anglican Bishop of Warrington (the Rt. Rev. Laurence Brown) standing in front of a big mural depicting Maggie May, Liverpool's good-time girl who is now the subject of a successful musical in London. It wasn't as bad as it seemed. The Bishop was going into the Mersyside Maggie May night club for the annual meeting of the local Samaritans, who help people in trouble by maintaining a 24-hour telephone answering service from the crypt of a nearby church.

Sportsman Raps State Office on Deer Neck Ropes

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—The State Conservation Department was under verbal shotgun fire from sportsmen today for placing nylon ropes around the necks of deer for identification.

Edwin Cox, vice president of the State Whitetail Deer Association, charged Saturday that the braided, bright yellow ropes prevented normal breathing and eating as the deer grew.

Speaking for the 3,000-member organization, Cox said one deer that had been roped two years ago was shot this fall and the cord had cut into the deer's neck, causing gangrene.

He said the Conservation Department had tagged at least 12 deer with neck ropes.

Harold G. Wilm, state conservation commissioner, resigned his post last Wednesday to return to the State College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

UCCC Defeats Westchester, 79-71, for 7th Straight State University Captures Third With 78-62 Decision

Reserves Again Aid in Victory; Dutchess Next

Though they were held under their 100-point-a-game average, the Senators of Ulster Community College came from an early deficit and rallied to their seventh straight decision, 79-71, over a tough Westchester Community College quintet Saturday at the Kate Walton Field House.

Coach Mike Perry's unbeaten hoopers won despite the fact starter Brad Meyer fouled out and Paul Buytjens and Cliff Schoonmaker sat out most of the second half with four personals. Again it was the bench which helped turn the trick.

Westchester moved to an 11-5 lead in the first half before George Druttman and Bill Egan hit on long field goals. The home side went on to move in front, 31-21, by halftime.

Buytjens picked up his fourth personal foul in the opening half and Jim Woodward, the former Marlboro cager, came in to move the ball well against the zone defense thrown up by the visitors.

20 Point Lead
Ulster widened the gap to 20 points, 54-34, in the first 11 minutes of the second half before the losers went on a late scoring spurt. This only served to make the final score a little closer.

The locals shot 51 per cent from the floor, hitting 30 baskets in 58 attempts. Westchester was 27 for 55, a 49 per cent rate. Ulster outrebounded the backboards, 27-23, and connected for 19 of 24 foul shots against 17 of 27 for Westchester.

Druttman gave another solid performance. He led both sides in scoring with 26 points. Bill Egan aided with 17 and Buytjens scored 15, his low output of the season. Schoonmaker had a dozen markers.

The Senators got for win number eight on Thursday night when they host Dutchess Community in an 8 o'clock game at the Auditorium.

Packers, Colts in Playoff Contest

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The best quarterback the Baltimore Colts had going for them in their last-chance shot at the National Football League's Western Division title was John Brodie — of the San Francisco 49ers.

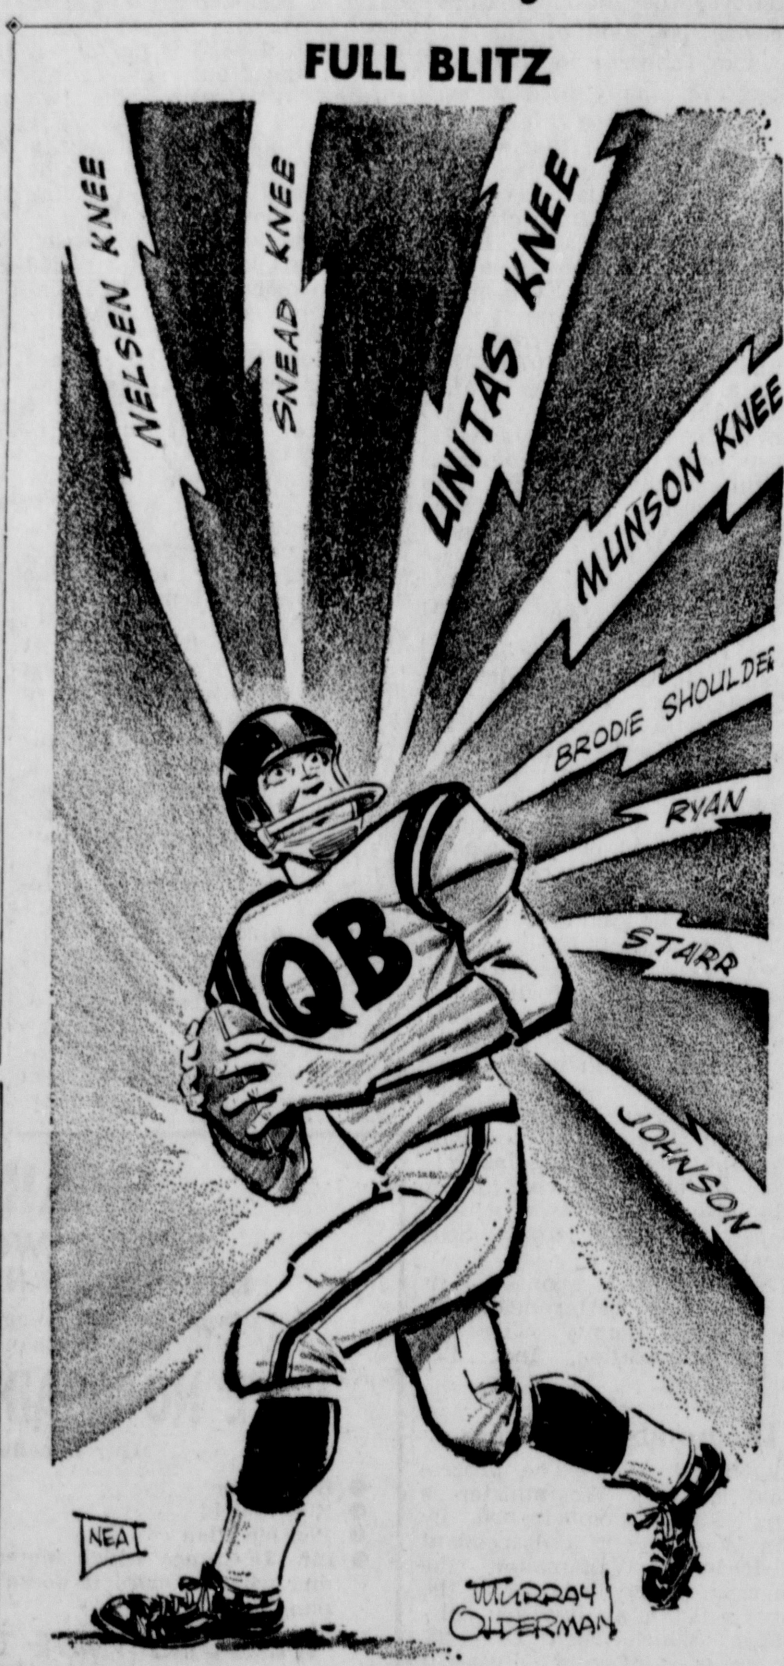

Baltimore kept alive Saturday when converted halfback Tom Matte and veteran pick-up Ed Brown quarterbacked them to a 20-17 squeaker over the Los Angeles Rams.

Then on Sunday, Brodie capped the finest season of his career by leading the 49ers to a 24-24 tie with Green Bay, leaving the Packers and Colts deadlocked at the top with 10-3-1 records.

Green Bay had a seven-point lead — and the division title apparently sewn up — with less than two minutes to go. But the 49ers surged back, so now the Packers and Colts will play off for the Western crown next Sunday at Green Bay, with the winner taking on the Cleveland Browns for the league championship Jan. 2.

Brodie's third scoring pass of the day, a 27-yarder to Vern Burke with 1 minute, 7 seconds to play, and Tommy Davis' conversion kick tied it at San Francisco. Each team led twice, with the Packers taking a 21-17 advantage in the final period on Jim Taylor's five-yard run and going ahead 24-17 when Don Chandler kicked a 31-yard field goal with 1:48 left.

20 Scoring Passes
But in 41 seconds the 49ers got even on Kermit Alexander's kickoff return to the 29, a 15-yard penalty, four Brodie pass-

Lourdes, KHS Collide In Non-Loop Contest

Unbeaten in their first three games, our Lady of Lourdes cagers visit the Kate Walton Field House for a non-league meeting with Kingston High School. The Jayvee game gets underway at 6:30.

Lourdes has been impressive in nipping Roosevelt, 68-67, and decisively beating Rhinebeck, 76-55, and Arlington, 59-39.

Kingston is making its first start since its record breaking, 115-34, win at Port Jervis on Friday. The locals are 2-1, having lost to Arlington and beaten Monticello.

Druttman Paces Region in Assists

George Druttman, co-captain of the unbeaten Ulster Community College basketball team, is paces Region XV in assists. Last figures show the Senator ace with 44 assists in four games, an average of 11 a start.

Paul Buytjens has 112 points on four games, an average of 28 a start. This puts him in fifth place in the individual scoring race.

Through the first four games, coach Mike Perry's cagers scored 397 points, an average of 99.3 a start. They allowed only 99.3 for a mark of 79.3. The offensive record is fourth best in the region. Leader is Robert Morris of Pennsylvania, who scored 134 points in its only game.

Ulster is unranked in a poll of the regional coaches, but the senators are picked as a dark horse, along with powerful Rockland, which is ranked fifth.

Wesley Jr. College of Dover, Delaware, has a 3-0 record and first ranking. Then comes Baltimore Jr. College, Robert Morris, Trenton Jr. College and Rockland.

The Senators have one game scheduled this week. They entertain Dutchess Community College on Thursday, 8 p. m., at the Municipal Auditorium.

the title game — unless they get unanimous consent from the other NFL clubs to activate a second quarterback.

Rip Hawkins' 35-yard scoring run with an intercepted pass capped a three-touchdown rally in the final period that gave Minnesota the victory over the Bears. Sayers went over from the two for his touchdown and finished his brilliant rookie season with 132 points.

Vince Costello's interception set up a 24-yard TD pass from Frank Ryan to Tom Hutchinson with 4 1/2 minutes left, enabling the Browns to overtake the Cardinals. Larry Wilson stole three of Ryan's passes and sprinted 95 yards for a touchdown with one of the interceptions.

Brown and defensive end Joe Robb of St. Louis were ejected for fighting just before the first half ended. Before that, the great Cleveland fullback bulled over from the three for his 21st touchdown and totaled 74 yards on 12 carries. He ran off with his eighth rushing title in nine seasons with 1,544 yards.

Trip to Miami
Dallas' victory over New York left the two clubs tied for second in the East with 7-7 records, but the Cowboys beat the Giants twice and thus earned the East spot in the Playoff Bowl for division runners-up.

Meredith hit Olympic flash Bob Hayes with two scoring passes and connected with Bud- dy Dial for another, while rookie Orlin Logan raced 60 yards with a blocked field goal for a key Dallas touchdown.

Tom Nowatzke, a seldom-used rookie back, paced the Lions over the Eagles with two touchdowns, including the clincher in

St. John Fisher Cagers Beaten; Albany Champs

State University of New Palz cagers scored 52 points in the second half and beat St. John Fisher of Rochester, 78-62, to win third place in the Capital City tournament Saturday at Siena College.

Albany State rallied to nip the host school, 91-88, to gain the championship. The champions came from a 12-point second half deficit to win their second title in the past three years.

Rich Spooner netted 33 points for coach Doug Sheppard's Hawks. His scoring led the second half surge over coach Bobby Wanzler's Cardinals. St. John Fisher led, 28-26, at halftime.

Buffalo State Next
The Hawks are now 3-2 for the season. They are idle until Jan. 8 when they entertain rugged Buffalo State in a conference game.

Spooner, who scored 22 points in his team's 84-72 defeat by Albany in the opening game of the tourney, made the All-Tournament team. Others picked were Brian Farrell and Mark Palinski of Siena; Mike Crocco of Albany State and John Fitzgerald of St. John Fisher.

Larry Marcus, former KHS star cager, is on the championship team from Albany State. He scored 12 points in the title tilt before fouling out late in the second half.

McClinton Did It for Hill

Romie Sets Up Three TDs for Chiefs' Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"I was playing his position and I wanted to play it as he would have," said Kansas City's Curt McClinton. "I dedicated myself to do it the way he would have done it."

The position McClinton was playing belonged to his roommate and teammate Mack (The Truck) Hill, who died suddenly last Tuesday from complications arising over a knee operation.

And McClinton, shifted from his normal halfback position, scored one touchdown and set up three others by grabbing five passes for 213 yards as the emotionally charged Chiefs out-slugged Denver 45-35 Sunday in an American Football League game. McClinton scored on an 11-yard touchdown run and set up three others scores with key receptions of 52, 12 and 69 yards en route to a total gain of 228 man show even impressed his teammates, all of whom had dedicated the game to Hill.

"Curtis showed super-human effort," said quarterback Len Dawson. "That was a sensational effort," said punt return specialist Frank Jackson.

Champions Tune Up
While the Chiefs and Broncos closed out their regular seasons, San Diego and Buffalo tuned up for the championship game next Sunday, the Chargers defeating Oakland 24-14 and the Bills dropping a 14-12 decision to the New York Jets.

Boston wallowed Houston 42-14 Saturday as Gino Cappelletti of the Patriots produced 23 points for a season total of 132 while winning the scoring title for the third consecutive year.

Dawson completed 11 of 22 passes for 282 yards against the Browns before turning the quarterbacking over to Pete Beathard and Bert Coan, taking over McClinton's halfback position, ran short yardage for a pair of touchdowns. John McCormick passed for three Denver touchdowns and Cookie Gilchrist scored on 44 and one-yard runs.

Lowe Sets Record
Paul Lowe carried only three times for 32 yards in the Chargers' victory but set a league rushing record with 1,112 for the season, bettering the 1,089 gained by Oakland's Clem Daniels in 1963. John Hadl's two touchdowns passes to Don Norton pulled San Diego into a 14-14 tie and the Chargers pulled ahead to stay in the fourth quarter on a 66-yarder from Don Breaux to Lance Alworth.

Joe Namath's two touchdown passes to Don Maynard got the job done for the Jets against the Bills, who muffed a conversion attempt and three field goal tries. Pete Gogolak, Buffalo's kicking specialist, did not even get a chance to put his foot on the ball on two of the attempts and wound up second in the scoring race with 115 points.

Another Record
NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League broke its attendance record for the fifth straight season this year as it closed in on the 5-million mark. Unofficial figures for the season which ended Sunday show 98 NFL games drew 4,906,364. Last year's official attendance was a record 4,563,049.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The gentleman farmer, who really works at the trade, had just come in from the cold.

A world renowned golfer, he was more concerned at the moment with some late season chores like retrieving bundles of corn-stalk.

"The wind is kicking them up," he said.

Gene Sarazen's voice, a rich baritone familiar to millions of American sports television viewers, rolled across the wire from Germantown in even cadence.

Had he heard about the newest accolade bestowed on him? "What are you talking about?" he asked with just a slight trace of anxiety in his voice.

"Tony Penna's new book 'My Wonderful World of Golf' has just been published and he lists you eighth among the ten all-time greats in golf history."

"Say, that title has a familiar ring, doesn't it?" said the Squire of Germantown.

"You mean like your Shell's Wonderful World of Golf program every winter on TV?"

"Yes, something like that."

"And when will the new Wonderful World of Golf series start?"

"Our first program is scheduled on Jan. 8 on NBC between 5 and 6 p. m."

Any new faces on the show this season?

"Lots of new faces and places," replied the golf legend from Germantown.

Rated Eighth on List:

Getting back to the Penna tome, the widely known golf professional, teacher and club designer devotes one chapter of his new book to his personal all-time ratings.

Big Jack Nicklaus comes out on top by a margin of one point over the immortal Bobby Jones. Sarazen is eighth, just behind Sam Snead and ahead of Tommy Armour and Gary Player, who complete the list.

Nicklaus scored 193 out of a possible 200 point in the rating. Penna awards 10 points as perfection with each of 16 possible clubs plus 15 points each for concentration and aggressiveness and 10 points for positive thinking.

Here's the way they finish:
1. Jack Nicklaus, 193; 2. Bobby Jones, 192; 3. Ben Hogan, 189; 4. Arnold Palmer, 188; 5. Walter Hagen, 184; 6. Byron Nelson, 184; (tie); 7. Sam Snead, 179; 8. Gene Sarazen, 172; 9. Tommy Armour, 171; 10. Gary Player, 170.

Concession to Gene:

Penna concedes that based primarily on championships won certainly Gene Sarazen would have to rank much higher than the eighth place awarded him. A terrific slump in the middle of his career during which he had to completely rebuild his game is given as one reason for Gene's 8th rating.

Sarazen could rise to the heights as few players in the history of the game, as witness his famed Double Eagle at the Masters. He shares with Player and Hogan the distinction of being the only players ever to win the Big Four—United States and British Open, Masters and P.G.A.—of all the legendary figures who have attained greatness on the fairways of the world.

The Nineteenth Hole:

It seems a crime to have those lush green Woodstock Country Club fairways buried under a mantle of white snow. But, alas, the kids will have fun on the temporary ski slopes. . . . In order to avoid conflict with the 1966 Hudson River Golf Association championships at Wiltwyck Country Club, the Herdgen Memorial tournament has been moved up one week next year. The 1966 dates are: June 11, Wiltwyck; June 12, Woodstock; June 18, Shawangunk; June 19, Twaalfskill. . . . Kingston Area Round Robin will be upgraded in 1966 to include more club participation and greater recognition for the champion.

Frank Sinatra must rank as one of the world's most casual golfers, says Oscar Fraley of the AP. At whatever point Sinatra tires of the teeside torture, he is wont to announce: "Okay, troops, back to the bar."

James Bond, alias Sean Connery, on location "keeps his sanity" with a daily round of golf, says Fraley. He isn't really 007. He is actually 009—handicap that is.

Columbia Plays In Cage Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbia's tall young Lions carry the Ivy League colors southward Monday night, hoping to match Princeton's recent road success in preconference basketball play.

The Lions had their unbeaten string snapped Saturday night at Georgetown 97-79 while defending Ivy League champ Princeton stunned Illinois 84-81 at Chicago. That left Columbia and the Tigers with a 5-1 season marks, best among the Ivies.

Dave Newmark, Columbia's 7-foot sophomore center, leads the Lions against Auburn tonight in a first round game of the Gasparilla Invitational Tourney at Tampa, Fla. Columbia reeled off five straight victories, including a 69-68 conference decision over Cornell, before Georgetown applied the brakes.

In the only other league games played to date Yale whipped Brown 66-51 and bowed to Cornell 86-75. There are no other conference games listed until after the end of the Christmas holidays.

Princeton rebounded from a 68-66 upset by Rutgers and surprised the Illini behind soph John Haarlow and Dave Lawyer. Haarlow wound up with 19 points and Lawyer hit 13, including the basket that put the Tigers ahead to stay 62-60.

Three other Ivy clubs fell in nonconference games Saturday. Davidson trounced Dartmouth 93-74, Rhode Island topped Brown 87-61 and Tufts ambushed Harvard 87-85.

Penn. 42 over-all, meets Philadelphia rival Villanova and Cornell, 3-3, takes on Pitt Wednesday night in the only other games this week for the Ivies.

Governor Has Role in Signing First SEC Negro

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt played a major role in signing the first Negro to a Southeastern Conference athletic grant-in-aid.

Breathitt entertained the star football player from Louisville at a luncheon at the governor's mansion in Frankfort, then started off on a two-city hop with the athlete that culminated with a visit to the player's mother.

By Sunday evening Nat Northington, a tailback at Louisville's Thomas Jefferson High School, had signed a University of Kentucky athletic scholarship and his mother, Mrs. William Northington, had given her approval with the governor standing at their side. Breathitt talked with Northington privately at the luncheon, after which they set out for the university, 32 miles away at Lexington.

Northington signed at Lexington in the presence of Kentucky football coach Charlie Bradshaw and his staff and university President John Oswald.

"This is a great and historic day for the University of Kentucky," Oswald said, "and for its athletic program and for the Southeastern Conference."

From Lexington, Breathitt, Northington and Kentucky assistant coach George Boone drove 70 miles to Louisville to get the signature of Northington's mother on the scholarship.

Breathitt, also chairman of the university board of trustees, called last week for increased efforts for the university to sign a Negro to a grant.

Key Games In College

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

All the major college basketball teams are taking the week-end off for Christmas but have jammed up the early part of the week with a flock of key inter-sectional games—including the Duke vs. Michigan clash.

The Blue Devils, 6-1 after a major scare from Virginia Saturday, take their No. 1 national ranking to Michigan Tuesday night for the top game on a busy slate. Michigan is 4-1 and ranked third nationally.

That game could have a major bearing on the national standings going into next week's hefty schedule of scores and scores of holiday tournaments, a schedule that actually started last weekend and continues with a couple of more early this week.

Michigan was idle last week and should be well-rested for Duke. The Wolverines led Bill Buntin from last years Big Ten champion team but still have All-America Cazzie Russell and 6-foot-7 Oliver Darden back from the team that last year reached the national finals and the year before the semis.

Duke, on the other hand, is scrambling. After knocking off UCLA twice in a row the week before, the Blue Devils had to come from behind twice Saturday night in clipping Virginia 75-72.

Important Games

Other important games early in the week have unbeaten Providence, No. 7, at Houston, and unbeaten Minnesota, No. 6, at Detroit tonight.

Tuesday night it's St. Joseph's, Pa., 6-0 and No. 2, at Brigham Young; Montana at Bradley, 8-0 and No. 9; and Santa Barbara at Vanderbilt, 6-0 and No. 5.

Fifteen teams were knocked from the unbeaten ranks last week, with No. 4 Kansas having the roughest go among the ranked teams, losing twice, 78-71 to UCLA and 81-69 to Southern California.

Eighty-ranked UCLA took an 82-76 licking from Cincinnati Saturday, its third loss of the season, but the rest of the Top Ten rolled along as expected. Vanderbilt won three times, including a 72-59 triumph over Western Kentucky in the finals of Vandy's Invitational Tournament Saturday night.

Other host teams scoring victories in their own tournaments Saturday included Kentucky, 51-56 over Indiana; Virginia Tech, 72-62 over Clemson; Marquette, 75-74 over Washington; in the Milwaukee Classic; and Arizona State University 84-81 over Seattle.

Tennessee Wins

Tennessee won the Gulf South Classic 49-43 over Centenary with the help of 18 points from Ron Widby, who was named the Most Valuable Player in the tournament after helping the Vols beat Tulsa 27-6 in the Bluebonnet Bowl football game Saturday afternoon.

Bradley, at 8-0, now tops the list of 17 major unbeaten teams, closely followed by Iowa, Syracuse and Temple at 7-0. Bradley won three times last week, including Saturday's 78-64 decision over Murray State.

In other Saturday night action, St. Joseph's whipped Michigan State 82-65, Minnesota beat Creighton 89-77, Providence took New Orleans Loyola 88-76 and No. 10 Wichita remained unbeaten with a 105-84 romp over Texas Tech.

Schaus Scramble Earns Dividends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles Laker coach Fred Schaus wears his suitcoat at all National Basketball Association games—perhaps to hide a few tricks up his sleeve.

He didn't doff his jacket Sunday night, a few tricks rolled out, and the Lakers beat the San Francisco Warriors, 132-120. Here's a sample of Schaus surprises:

—Players were ordered to be in the dressing room early and visitors were barred.

—Let them sit there and think about basketball," said Schaus, still rankled at the two defeats Philadelphia handed Los Angeles last week on its home court.

—Elgin Baylor, Laker superstar, suited up for the first time since he injured his knee Nov. 27. He didn't play, but added an air of power to the Los Angeles bench.

West at guard, using Leroy Ellis for Baylor and calling on Bob Boozar to sub for injured Rudy LaRusso at the other forward spot. Gene Wiley played center.

The Lakers played raggedly through the first three quarters and trailed 95-94 going into the final period.

In the decisive period, Schaus improvised, having Jim King and Gail Goodrich join West in the backcourt.

That gave the Lakers three guards—a trick that apparently shook everybody up, including the Warriors, and set the Lakers on a final shooting blitz. Three minutes later, on West's hot-shot, the Lakers had pulled to an unbeatable 120-110 lead.

The win moved Los Angeles to 1 1/2-game lead over Baltimore in the NBA's Western Division.

All other NBA members were idle.

Tennessee
And Ole' Miss
Win Bowl Tilts

Defense carried the day for Tennessee and Mississippi in the first major bowl games in college football's winter windup. Tulsa's pass - happy Hurricanes ran into bad weather and an alert Tennessee defense in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston last Saturday and took a 27-6 beating from the rugged Vols. Mississippi, meanwhile, won a defensive struggle with Auburn 13-7 in the transplanted Liberty Bowl at Memphis.

At Houston last Saturday a crowd of 40,000 braved a steady downpour to watch Tennessee turn two fumble recoveries and an interception into touchdowns and whip Tulsa despite another passing binge by Hurricane quarterback Bill Anderson.

Anderson threw 47 times, completing 23, and outgained Vols passer Dewey Warren 250 yards to 37.

But Warren flipped for one touchdown, directed two other scoring drives and was named the game's outstanding back while the touted Anderson-Howard and Twilley aerial combination was blanked. Fumble recoveries by Bob Petrella and All-American Frank Emanuel set up two touchdowns. Glenn Gray's pass theft led to another and Jerry Smith's 45-yard punt return keyed the fourth.

The victory gave Tennessee an 8-1-2 mark for the season. Tulsa wound up 8-2.

In the Liberty Bowl, shifted from Atlantic City to Memphis to escape the frigid North, a 38,607 turnout in near-freezing weather saw Mississippi stall Southeastern Conference rival Auburn for a 7-4 finish. The Tigers' record dipped to 5-5-1.

Ole Miss stopped the Tigers cold in the second half, the defense tossing quarterback Alex Bowden for losses totaling 45 yards. Sophomore Jimmy Keyes booted field goals of 42 and 30 yards for the deciding points.

Ewbank Favors
Runnerup Date

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Weeb Ewbank, whose New York Jets finished the regular season in second place with nowhere to go but home for the holidays, would like to see the American Football League adopt a post-season plan similar to the National League's.

"Sure I'd like to see the second-place teams meet," said Ewbank after his Jets had upended Eastern Division champion Buffalo 14-12 Sunday in their closing regular season game. "The way it is now, once you're out of the show, it's tough to keep the kids going."

The NFL adds some incentive for its runners-up by holding a Playoff Bowl in Miami in January, which brings the player additional money, a nice trip and an added reason to keep battling after the title is out of reach.

Meanwhile, Ewbank will settle for what he has. "I'll stick by what I said at the beginning of the season," Ewbank explained. "I didn't think we should finish second but I would have been happy to — even though when you start the season you're always shooting for the top."

"I'm happy about this game — after all we beat the guys that could be champs."

But it took Joe Namath's two touchdowns passes to Don Maynard, plus a series of muffed conversions and field goal attempts by Buffalo to bring the Jets' victory for a 5-8-1 record and the runner-up spot to the Bills' 10-3-1.

"Better this week than next Sunday," said Lou Saban, Bill's coach, referring to next week's title game at San Diego. "You can't expect them not to be thinking a week ahead."

Asked about the missed conversion and field goal attempts by Pete Gogolak, Saban snapped: "The kicker can't kick 'em until the ball's placed down. As far as the field goals, he's not supposed to do the blocking against the defensive line."

Mays' Collapse
Leads to Rest

By RICHARD E. MEYER

Associated Press Sports Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Willie Mays has quit promoting the Job Corps for the sake of his baseball career. His third collapse in three years forced the decision.

Willie explained: "The doctor here said I was a little nervous from running around all over the country."

Mays, 34, highest-paid player in baseball ($105,000) and the National League's Most Valuable Player, fell in a faint Saturday at a downtown theater.

Backstage hands ran to help him. They sat him in a chair. And somebody called a police ambulance. But Mays walked from the theater and rode in a police car to the Salt Lake City home of Herman Franks, manager of the San Francisco Giants.

"I guess he just blacked out," said Franks. "All the heat and the kids."

"Don't worry about him," Franks said, and added that his star center fielder would be in "good shape" by spring.

"I'm fine," said Willie.

"The doctor said I should get lots of rest. He gave me a couple of shots and some pills and said in a couple of days I should be back to feeling really good."

Willie collapsed in 1962 sitting in a dugout, and doctors blamed it on indigestion. Then he fell to one knee because of dizziness at Candlestick Park in 1963. Doctors blamed exhaustion.

Dr. Robert Dahmy, who examined him Saturday, said exhaustion was the culprit again.

During his first year with the Giants last season, Franks rested Mays periodically. And Willie responded with 52 homers for the best season performance in the majors, posting a .38 batting average with 112 runs batted in.

Rambunctious Eddie Shack could be on the way to his best National Hockey League season ever after playing his way back from exile.

Shack scored two goals—his 12th and 13th of the season—as Toronto ran its unbeaten string to six games with a 3-1 decision over Boston Sunday night.

Elsewhere, New York ended an 11-game winless streak with a 3-2 victory against league-leading Montreal and Chicago trimmed the Canadiens' lead to two points by coming from behind on Pat Stapleton's third-period goal for a 5-4 victory.

Saturday night, Toronto walloped New York 8-4 as Shack scored once and Dave Keon and Bob Fulford hit hat tricks. Montreal edged Boston 2-1 and Detroit stopped Chicago 2-1.

Toronto's Punch Imlach, who never seemed quite sure what to do with Shack, solved his problem this year by shipping exuberant Eddie to Rochester of the American League.

But when the Leafs lagged at the season's start, Imlach brought Shack back and he hasn't been sorry since.

"Sure, some of his moves are confusing to his linemates," says Punch of Shack's helter-skelter style, "but he confuses the other guys, too."

Eddie managed just five goals all of last year.

National League
Again Beats AFL

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Football League has added two more first-round choices to its bulging collection and blocked the American League from keeping Tulsa's record-breaking Bill Anderson to Howard Twilley passing combination intact in the pros.

Striking quickly after Saturday's Bluebonnet and Liberty bowl football games, the NFL signed seven players to two for the AFL as four more major teams closed out their regular seasons.

The two No. 1 selections were guard Stan Hindman and half-back Mike Dennis, who helped Mississippi to a 13-7 Liberty Bowl victory over Auburn.

Hindman, a 230-pounder, who likely will play defensive end in the pros, signed with San Francisco. He had been a second-round selection of Houston in the AFL.

Dennis, a 210-pound running back, was picked in the third round of the NFL draft by Atlanta, but the Falcons later altered his negotiation rights to Los Angeles, and the Rams signed him. He was Buffalo's top pick in the AFL draft.

Another Mississippi star, defensive back Bill Clay, signed with Washington of the NFL. He was the Redskins' No. 4 pick and was selected fifth by Denver of the AFL.

Dolphins Fall

The AFL's Miami Dolphins, meanwhile, tried to keep the Twilley-Anderson combination together but failed. The new team had drafted Twilley No. 12 and acquired the rights to Anderson on a lateral from Houston.

The Dolphins got Twilley but lost Anderson to the Rams.

Twilley, who was a 14th-round pick by Minnesota in the NFL, and Anderson, who was selected as a future last year in both drafts, finished their college careers in a 27-6 loss to Tennessee in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

The Dolphins also signed Stan Mitchell, Tennessee's 214-pound fullback.

Two other Tulsa players also signed with NFL clubs, back Bob Daugherty going with the 49ers and center John Osmond signing with Philadelphia. Auburn end Ronnie Baynes signed with the NFL's Dallas Cowboys.

The NFL now has signed 24 of the 48 players selected on the first three rounds of its draft — or 50 per cent — and lost only two. The AFL has signed none of the 28 players picked on its first three rounds — or 32 per cent — and lost eight to the NFL.

But when the Leafs lagged at the season's start, Imlach brought Shack back and he hasn't been sorry since.

temperated forecasts for upstate U. S. Weather Bureau, from Tuesday through Saturday:

Rather cold at the beginning of the week with lake effect snows near the Great Lakes and snow flurry activity mainly confined to the higher terrain of the north and west portions. Gradual moderation during the middle and latter part of the week with a fair chance of light snow and flurries late in the week.

Temperatures will average about normal early winter levels and precipitation water content will be quite light.

Syracuse Quintet
Remains Unbeaten

The Syracuse basketball team will test its mettle on the West Coast next Monday as it moves into the Los Angeles Classic.

The Orange, now 7-0 this year, defeated Connecticut's Huskies Saturday in a home game that saw Dave Bing again pace the Shant-shooting New York quintet. Bing scored 26 points in the handy 87-62 win.

Syracuse has scored 100 or more points in five of its seven victories. In the other two games, it has come up with 87. Its closest contest was with Cornell, which fell to the Orangemen, 87-81, earlier this month.

In other games involving Upstate New York college teams: Penn State nipped Colgate, 75-74; Dayton edged Canisius, 70-67; St. Bonaventure downed San Francisco State, 75-58; Brooklyn College tripped Oneonta, 95-92; Niagara beat LaSalle of Pennsylvania in overtime 88-87.

Hiram of Ohio whipped Fredonia, 89-77; Buffalo University defeated Bucknell of Pennsylvania, 72-61; and RPI felled the University of Hartford, 66-60.

In the fifth annual Capital District Invitational, also Saturday, Albany State took top honors with a 91-88 victory over Siena, while New Paltz slipped into third place by defeating St. John Fisher, 78-62.

Colgate barely missed a last-second victory when a final shot was blocked by the Lions' Carter. Clinton, Clinton also was high scorer for the winners with 23 points, while the Red Raiders' Gary Blongiewicz, who failed to get the shot off, picked up 21 in pacing Colgate.

Albany overcame a 10-point deficit in the final three minutes to topple Siena. Brian Farrell scored 24 points for the losers to emerge as the game's top shooter.

Bill Butler of St. Bonaventure was the high man overall in Saturday's games as he picked up 32 points in the win over the quintet from San Francisco.

Most Complex Mission Yet

Titan 3 Poised to Launch Four Satellites Tuesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A triple-barreled Air Force Titan 3 is scheduled to kick four separate satellites into an orbit more than 20,000 miles above the equator Tuesday to climax one of the most complex unmanned space missions ever planned.

Riding on the nose of the three-legged booster, the nation's most powerful rocket now in use, will be two experimental communications satellites, a satellite which will study activities of the sun and a fourth satellite for ham radio operators. Liftoff is scheduled for 9 a.m. (EST).

The amateur radio satellite, called Oscar 4, is sort of a poor man's Telstar. Like three other Oscar satellites which preceded it, Oscar 4 was built by the American Radio Relay League, a group of space engineers whose hobby is ham radio.

Oscar stands for Orbiting Satellite Carrying Amateur Radio. Oscar 4 is a complete radio frequency transmitter capable of simultaneously receiving voice and telegraph signals at 144 megacycles and retransmitting them at 432 megacycles.

The two communications satellites, developed by the Lincoln Laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and named Les 3 and Les 4, are designed to test devices for future military defense communications satellite systems.

The sun-studying satellite, called OV2-3, will carry 15 experiments, the Air Force said, including various tests of the effect of natural radiation on living tissue.

The mission will be one of the most complicated ever undertaken, lasting some six hours and involving over 150 events. The four satellites — which make the entire payload weigh 931 pounds — will be placed in space so they hover above the equator more than 20,000 miles over Galapagos Island, west of Peru.

Chest Directors Make Last Minute Appeal for Drive

A total of $27,682 remains to be raised in the current Ulster County Community Chest fund campaign according to announcement made at a meeting of the board of directors last week.

The directors projected plans to complete all outstanding calls as a last minute attempt to raise the balance this year. Promises of cooperation were made to raise the necessary funds.

If the funds are not raised the member agencies must seek additional ways of cutting expenses to avoid further reduction of their services to the community. Gratitude was conveyed to the budget committee for the tremendous task they performed to review agency needs and needs. The goal for the 1966 drive is $225,000.

though the spaceships were speeding at 17,500 miles an hour.

Against Bulky Suit
Persons who talked with the astronauts quoted Borman as saying he thought future space-men should not have to fly in bulky space suits on long-duration flights. And if a "back up" pressure system is needed, Borman suggested it be built into the spacecraft rather than the space suit, sources noted.

The two Gemini 7 pilots flew much of their mission in their underwear, and would have done it even more if Mission Control permitted them. Borman and Lovell are scheduled to stay at Cape Kennedy until Wednesday, concentrating on medical examinations. They then plan to fly to the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., to begin eight days of training and retraining the story of their marathon flight to project officials.

Navy Capt. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Stafford flew from nearby Patrick Air Force Base to Houston Sunday afternoon, after a playful reunion with Borman and Lovell.

Schirra and Stafford were not on hand to meet two Navy planes that flew the Gemini 7 crew from the Wasp to Cape Kennedy.

Crouched in Doorway
Instead, Schirra was crouched in a doorway at astronaut crew headquarters on neighboring Merritt Island. When Borman and Lovell walked down the hall, he jumped out and began beating the air with his arms as if the Gemini 7 crew needed landing instructions.

Borman and Schirra had a well-publicized bet over which spacecraft would land closest to its target, the Wasp. Officials said Schirra acknowledged that Borman got slightly closer, but blamed it on an instrument in the Gemini 6 capsule which was slightly off.

Bet Called Off
Astronaut Donald K. Slayton, director of the Gemini 7 crew, said the bet was called off.

"There was a lot of handshaking and mutual congratulations," said Slayton of the meeting of the two Gemini crews.

The reunion was a brief one. Schirra and Stafford had to leave for Houston only 45 minutes after Borman and Lovell arrived at Cape Kennedy.

Of prime interest to researchers is finding out how much calcium was lost during the space flight.

Other tests will show whether a heart gets "lazy" in the weightlessness of outer space, and how much of a strain it puts on a spaceman returning to earth's gravity.

Some researchers fear that over a long period of time calcium loss could make bones dangerously brittle.

Problems Noted

commitments have already been made for the construction of New post office buildings. Congressman Resnick's staff is trying to expedite these projects.

Lichtenstein has a police force of 50 men.

Upstater Had Major Role in Astro Pickup

ABOARD USS WASP (AP)—Danny Fraser, 23, of Lyndonville, N.Y., is a Navy swimmer whose skills aid astronauts at the completion of their spins around the earth.

Fraser, whose home is in the northern Orleans County community, dropped from the rescue helicopter Saturday with two other Navy men to the Gemini 7 spacecraft as it bobbed in the Atlantic.

The rubber-suited, flipperswimmers attached a floatation collar around the spacecraft. Standing on the collar, they helped pull open the hatch and assisted astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. into a rubber life raft, which was reeled into the helicopter.

The frogmen stayed with the craft until it was hoisted aboard the aircraft carrier.

Report Local Man Seriously Hurt, Struck by Truck

A local man was seriously injured in one of two vehicle-pedestrian mishaps in the city this morning and a Brooklyn woman involved in the other was less seriously hurt.

Police said Frederick William Klee, 63, of 200 Tremper Avenue, suffered face, leg, back and hand injuries when he was struck by a panel truck of Mosher's Package Delivery Service, 189 Tremper Avenue, as it backed from a driveway near that address. The truck was driven by Samuel E. Mosher, of 189 Tremper Avenue.

Klee was taken by Doctors' Hospital where his condition was reported serious this afternoon. Detective Gurney Burger with officers Gerald Tierney and Ira Haddel investigated the mishap reported at 10:15 a.m.

Police said the second, a short time later involved a car operated by Roy L. Featherstone, 61, of Sands Avenue, Milton, which was turning from Fair into St. James Street and a fender brushed against Mrs. Gertrude McMonigle, 72, of 280 Dean Street, Brooklyn. She was taken by Fatum ambulance to the Benedictine Hospital for examination. Officers Tierney and Haddel investigated.

The extreme lows, however, were limited to the area from Watertown East, and north from Albany.

About 25 miles north of Rome, an additional 25 inches of snow fell over the weekend on the hamlet of Highmarket, for a total of 32 inches.

The Weather Bureau said the cold snap is expected to continue through Tuesday.

Elsewhere, in the state, Syracuse recorded 1 above; Glens Falls, 5; Albany, 6; Poughkeepsie, 8; Buffalo, 11, and New York City, 23.

Officially, winter begins Tuesday at 8:41 p.m.

Binnewater Area Chapel Schedules Pageant Thursday

Come To The Stable, a three-act Christmas play-pageant by Herman E. DeVier, will be presented by Binnewater Union Chapel, Thursday 7:30 p.m.

Justus (Romie Drole) a blind teen-age boy, sees hope for the discouraged people and believes in the near coming of the promised Messiah. He and his teen-age sister Eunice (Ruth Ann Whitten) help their mother Maria (Darlene Hotelling), a widow of Bethlehem, weave baskets to sell at the market. The market women (Susie Hahn, Ruthie Backenroth, Rosemary Quick) tell Maria of the decree of Caesar Augustus that all must be enrolled and taxed.

In order to pay the tax, Justus becomes a stable boy for Darius and Dianna (Brenda Whitten, Judy Hotelling), innkeepers of Bethlehem. When Silivus (Allen Lawlor) informs Darius of the need of lodging for Joseph and Mary (Floyd Craig, Hattie Lawlor), Darius' love for money leads him to reject them.

After Darius learns that Justus has permitted Mangus (Cameron Hendrix) to let Joseph and Mary use the stable, he seeks and receives God's forgiveness.

When the stable door is opened, the entire cast, with the shepherds (Tim Craig, Billy Hahn, Robert Craig, Jr.), Angel (Gwendolyn LoBello), Roman Soldiers (Chester Craig, Steven Craig), modern children (Mark Craig), Donna Hawick, Brenda Craig, Sharon Lasher) and ushers (Kevin Hendrix, Dennis Hendrix), come to the stable to worship the Christ.

Music will be Come Thou Almighty King, The Light of the World is Jesus, Oh Little Town of Bethlehem, No Room, Away In A Manger, and Oh Come All Ye Faithful.

The program is under the direction of organist Mrs. Pete Whitten; music, Mrs. Kenneth Evans; costumes, Mrs. Sam Freer, Mrs. Frank Rougier; stage and lights, Frank Rougier; Kenneth Evans, Peter Whitten; children director, Mrs. John Donaldson; and director, Mrs. Julian Morton.

Electronics, most of whom are defense-related, followed along. Airlines, electrical equipments and oils also showed some sharp losses.

Steels were higher in early trading but they erased most of their gains and began to ease. Autos were down from the start. Some losses worsened in the group.

Rails held fairly steady after trimming early advances.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.40 at 953.45.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Advisor & Analyst

More Insurance—Then
A Stock Program Advised

Q—"We are in our forties, with a home paid for; $18,000 life insurance; $10,000 savings. Our income is $10,700 a year and we have 2 children. We want to invest in something that would make a good profit. What do you suggest?" W. H.

A—I am glad to see you so well situated. My first suggestion would be that you increase your life insurance at least to $50,000, to afford more income protection for your family. Remember that it is the income from the proceeds of insurance that counts, not the face amount of the policy.

For investment, since you have obviously had little experience, I suggest that you forget good profits and buy good values which should ultimately produce profits. For you, I advise stocks which are growing but are in groups which the recent, somewhat speculative market has generally tended to ignore. I like Corn Products, a world-wide food enterprise; Texaco, a splendid oil marketer; Allied Stores, a merchandiser which is beginning to grow under new management.

Q—I am married and in my late 30s, with a bank account of $3,000. My husband will not touch this, although we are not very well off. Eventually, we plan to buy a house and then, perhaps I can persuade him to use my money. In the meantime, what shall I do with this money, leave it in the bank or invest in stocks which may increase in value?" M. C.

A—I should like to congratulate you on having a husband of unusually fine character. I believe your money should remain in the bank until your plans for a house come to fruition. To invest without a good backlog of savings is a serious mistake. Stocks have only one thing in common, namely, that they fluctuate—sometimes very sharply. Your money in the bank will not grow, except by compound interest, but your capital will remain intact for whenever you need it.

Car Falls on Curve

Sergeant Paulson reported R. F. Schuman, 41, High Falls, suffered lacerations of the head and face at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, when his 1961 car failed to negotiate a curve as he was traveling east on Route 44 at Napanoch, and overturned in a ditch.

At 8:30 p.m. Sunday cars driven by Estelle Koutoulas, 30, of Roxbury, Mass., and Mary McKenna, 27, High Falls, collided at the intersection of Clove Valley and Cedar Hill Roads. Town of Marlborough. Sergeant Paulson said Mary McKenna suffered contusions of the forehead. The Koutoulas car was going north on Clove Valley Road and the McKenna vehicle was attempting a left turn onto that road at the time of the crash.

Sergeant Paulson reported Thomas Middletown, 37, Kerhonkson, apparently escaped injury at 9 p.m. Sunday, when his 1953 car went off Route 209 near Napanoch and overturned in a ditch. The vehicle was a total wreck, troopers said.

Motorist Cited

Three persons were injured and a motorist was cited by Kingston State Police as the result of a two-car collision at 2:50 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of Routes 32 and 212, Saugerties. Trooper Robert Mackey said Steve Orsulich, 73, of 177 Market Street, Saugerties, was driving south on Rt. 32 and William Barris, 24, of 172 Petition Street, that village, was driving north when the vehicles collided.

Orsulich was cited by Trooper John Kohland for failure to yield the right of way. Injured and taken to Benedictine Hospital, troopers said, were Orsulich, who received lacerations of the lip; Margaret Barris, 21, who was taken to the hospital for examination for disturbed pregnancy; and Margaret Barris, 3, who sustained abrasions of the face and possible internal injuries.

Snow Blankets Lakes Region

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow blanketed much of the Great Lakes region today, while from northeastern Ohio to Vermont flurries tapered off after considerable accumulations in upper New York State.

Hardest hit by the snowfall Sunday were the Adirondack foothills. The hamlet of Highmarket reported 25 inches and other cities in the snow belt received from 12 to 15 inches.

Because few roads cross this part of the state, no major problems resulted from the heavy snowfall.

A slick coat of new snow covered most sections from northern Illinois through Minnesota. In the far South, generous rains soaked much of Florida. Orlando reported more than an inch.

In the Far West, low temperatures continued today to be the rule. Much of eastern Nevada experienced its fifth day of below-zero readings. It was 11 below at Elko, Nev.

Erhard Begins Capital Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — West

German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and President Johnson open two days of talks today with the emphasis on Germany's efforts to gain a larger role in Europe's nuclear defenses.

The Germans have no nuclear weapons and rely on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as a deterrent against what Erhard has said are 1,000 mid-range Soviet missiles aimed at Western Europe.

Erhard was expected to present a plan for expanded control of those nuclear weapons now in Western Europe.

Administration officials knew in advance the broad outlines of his proposal, but declined public comment until after Erhard fills in the details.

As understood prior to the German's arrival, this would involve general support for the British idea of an Atlantic Nuclear Force — ANF.

The Erhard-envisioned force, as understood in Washington, would be a fleet of American and British submarines equipped with Polaris missiles and jointly owned by interested nations. At the outset this probably would include the United States, Britain, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands.

Thus, three nations — Germany, Italy and the Netherlands — would have a bigger say in the use of nuclear weapons.

Among those with Erhard in Washington are Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder and Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel.

They arrived late Sunday afternoon and were greeted by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Bust of Pope Is Unveiled at St. Patrick's

A bronze bust of Pope Paul VI, commemorating the historic visit of His Holiness to St. Patrick's Cathedral on Oct. 4 will be unveiled by Francis Cardinal Spellman inside the 5th Avenue entrance of the Cathedral this afternoon, at 2:30.

Cardinal Spellman will leave New York on Tuesday for his Christmas visit to the servicemen in Viet Nam.

Present for the unveiling will be the artist, Lello Scorzelli, whose famous works include "Guaracino" at the Fountain of Radio Television Italiana, a bronze portrait of Giacomo Puccini at the Milan Conservatory, a bronze bust of Pope John XXIII at the Vatican, a set of panels representing the "Way of the Cross" and the "Last Supper" for the Private Chapel of the Pope in the Vatican, and many other outstanding works in bronze.

The Erhard-envisioned force, as understood in Washington, would be a fleet of American and British submarines equipped with Polaris missiles and jointly owned by interested nations. At the outset this probably would include the United States, Britain, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands.

Pa. Dems Plan To Quicken Pace

HARRISBURG (AP) — Faced with a gubernatorial threat to adjourn the General Assembly, House Democrats plan to quicken their pace this Christmas week.

Majority Leader Joshua Eilberg, D-Philadelphia, said over the weekend that it may be necessary for the House to work up to Christmas eve.

The House, ruled by Democrats, returns today in a solo session.

The Republican-controlled Senate has not set an exact time for reconvening, but it will have to return by Wednesday in order to comply with the constitutional ban against either chamber adjourning for more than three days without the consent of the other.

Both chambers wound up a five-day session last Friday.

Gov. Scranton, a Republican, said Thursday he may be forced to invoke a constitutional provision to adjourn the legislature before the 1966 session convenes Jan. 4 so he can make interim appointments to key boards and agencies.

Democrats disagree with his contention that he can adjourn the session finally. They say he has only recess power.

The majority leader's announced plan to work through Thursday, just two days before Christmas, drew considerable grumbling from both Democrats and Republicans, but Eilberg said there have been no serious complaints.

He added that Minority Leader Kenneth B. Lee, R-Sullivan, indicated that Scranton might act by Dec. 31.

The last time the General Assembly has worked so close to Christmas day was in 1955 when Republicans ruled the legislature. Christmas Day was on a Sunday then.

The legislature met through the preceding Wednesday and returned a week later.

The House agenda is crammed with about 200 bills but Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said he plans only to consider conference committee reports and bills that need concurrence in House amendments.

Perkins will head a group of 45 educators and community leaders, including the presidents of 33 Negro colleges and universities, on the newly formed board.

Perkins' appointment was announced Saturday by William T. Gossett, chairman of the board of directors.

Gossett said the trustees will be concerned with educational standards, while the directors will assume responsibility for fund-raising.

More than $90 million has been raised by the fund in its 20 years of existence.

Grain Carrier Last To Pass Soo Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—The upper Great Lakes shipping season is closed for the winter following the passage of the grain carrier Sir James Dunn through the Soo Locks.

Capt. H.D. Miller skipped the 630-foot-long vessel of the Canadian Steamship Lines through the locks Saturday.

Officials immediately closed the locks at the entrance to Lake Superior until about April 1, when the 1966 shipping season will open.

The Dunn, loaded with 680,000 bushels of wheat, was bound for Midland, Ont.

Trust Co. Open; Fifth in County

The Kingston Trust Co. opened its fifth office in Ulster County this morning on Rt. 9W, north of Kingston, adjacent to Montgomery Ward.

At 9 o'clock this morning, Frederick P. Carpenter, vice president-treasurer, and manager of the new office, turned the key to start the official day's business serving the Town of Ulster Area.

"We are happy to be here, in this temporary building," Carpenter said, "and we will offer the full range of our banking services while our permanent building is being constructed on this same site."

All Facilities
"The temporary building has every necessary facility to perform the full service bank functions of the Kingston Trust Co. There is a drive-in window, a night depository and a full complement of experienced staff members permanently transferred from other offices to serve the new Ulster Office," he added.

Kingston Trust, with its main office at 27 Main Street, has its central office on Broadway near the Central Post Office, a Marlboro office and a Phoenix office. Consumer Loan Operations and Trust department activities are headquartered at 260 Fair Street.

George Rusk, president of the bank, was present at the opening as were Alexander J. Banyo, Town of Ulster Supervisor and Ted Musialkiewicz, Supervisor-Elect who will take office Jan. 1.

Both Rusk and Carpenter reviewed the highlights of past years of the Kingston Trust Co. which contributed to the growth of the bank.

From its first organization and charter in 1836 the bank has steadily grown in customers, deposits and assets to its present substantial position of employing almost 200 people and employing deposits of more than $36,000,000.

"This," pointed out Carpenter, "makes the Kingston Trust Co. the largest bank in Ulster County, and the oldest one that has its main office in Ulster County."

"While this is obviously significant," he continued, "we find our strength and purpose—and reason for growth—to be rooted in our philosophy of really serving customers and the community in which we operate. We have so many friends and customers in the Town of Ulster, that we thought it wise to apply for permission from the New York State Banking Department to locate here. We intend to fully serve our good friends and neighbors—our old customers and new ones—and we hope to grow as the area here grows."

Carpenter, who started with the Kingston Trust Co. 22 years ago, already had 17 years of prior banking experience before joining the Kingston Trust Co.

The new manager is a founder of the local chapter of the American Institute of Banking and a 1965 graduate of the Stonier Graduate School of Banking—sponsored by and part of the American Bankers Association.

An elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Kingston, Carpenter also treasurer of the Ulster County unit of the American Cancer Society. He is past master, Rondout Lodge 343, F&AM, and a past treasurer of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Associated with Carpenter at the Ulster Office will be Miss Margaret Smith, assistant secretary of Kingston Trust. Her long tenure and experience with the bank as a working officer, plus the added staff of John A. Filippelli, Eileen A. Gunn, and Dorothy J. Zimmermann are all intended to give the Ulster Office a ready-to-function banking house capability.

"Other members of our organization will step into the shoes vacated by the Ulster Office staff, Rusk said, "we always promote and train from within the organization before recruiting additional help."

The bank will have a regular gala celebration when the permanent building is ready for occupancy in six or seven months.
